CONSPIRATORS ARE PUNISHED

Forty Zapatists Believed To Have Been Shot.

MADERO RECEIVES PEACE PROPOSALS

Death of Americans Must Be Cleared Up.

United States Will Withdraw Support Given Madero's Administration If Good Explanation Is Not Forthcoming — Eleven Soldiers Die When Train Runs into Mules and Is Derailed—Many Injured.

Mexico City, Sept. 19.—Quick punishment is being meted out to conspirators involved in the plot to deliver the Mexican capital to Zapatista rebels.

Forty of those arrests have disappeared from the prison in which they were confined, and it is believed all have been shot to death secretly.

A strike of textile workers was called last night, and today 20,000 men are idle, bringing another menace to the government. A strike at this time is dangerous, as a great number of the unemployed are likely to swell the ranks of the rebels.

Revolutionary conditions in the South are becoming more serious. Some Zapatista bands have joined the Salgadistas. Huetamo, in the state of Michoacan, and Teleopam in the state of Guerero, are besieged.

Ready To Talk Business.

Mexico City, Sept. 19.—Peace proposals made by Colonel R. G. Robelo, representative of General Orozco, the Mexican rebel leader, were received by President Madero today.

The proposals express the willingness of the revolutionists of the north to proceed in the deliberations which there shall be between representatives of Madero, the federal army, the revolutionary army of the north and the revolutionary army of the south and the various civil elements of the republic. They probably will be ignored.

The peace officer is accompanied by a letter in which Colonel Robelo says:

Robelo's Letter.

"General Orozco has been told that the government wishes to bring about peace. The general wishes to bring about liberty. We are ready to meet with the government, the army and the civil elements of the republic in this matter.

"We believe that a mixed delegation, formed of representatives of government, the federal army, the independent civil elements and of the revolutionary army of the north and of the south, should be charged with the study of the definite points of an agreement.

"Upon the communication of these resolutions, we make a supreme appeal to your duty to the fatherland."

Little Change Reported.

Consular and military dispatches from Mexico today indicated little change throughout the republic. The main division of the rebel force appears to have disappeared into the mountains of Sonora, where the individual members are conducting a guerilla warfare on small detachments of federals, which have dared to follow them.

General Pascual Orozco is still at large somewhere near the border of Arizona, but his exact whereabouts are not known.

General Steever reported today that since the arrival of the Thirteenth and Nineteenth cavalry, the border is patrolled and there is little opportunity for a rebel force to cross.

Mules Cause Wreck.

Mexico City, Sept. 19.—Eleven Mexican soldiers are dead, and ten others probably will die, as the result of the wreck of a troop train on the Mexican Central last night, caused by the obstinacy of three mules.

The mules refused to be frightened off the track by the locomotive's whistle and when the train struck them it was derailed. Forty-seven soldiers were injured.

Will Demand Reparation.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The United States will demand reparation from Mexico for the deaths of Joseph Meyer and George Reterman, Americans found murdered near San Pedro Mazen and Cusohui ranches.

As yet no report has reached the state department, showing that the Americans were killed by revolutionists, but Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson at Mexico City, was today instructed to make a thorough investigation of the deaths, and to report to Washington whether they met their deaths while opposing the rebels or whether they were murdered for profit.

SENSITIVE DOG DIES FROM HUMILIATION

New York, Sept. 19.—Being too sensitive to endure the humiliation of arrest, a dog belonging to David J. Roche, of this city, died after two days confinement in the pound.

by ruffians, unaffiliated with the rebel forces.

If the former, the United States will make immediate demand on the Mexican government for pecuniary recompense for the death of the Americans, and will back up this demand by a show of force along the border, and, if necessary, by a withdrawal of the support with which Washington has favored the Maderist administration.

Finance Revolution.

New York, Sept. 19.—That a pool of $5,000,000, made up by Americans here, financed the Madero revolution against Diaz in Mexico, was the charge made here by Juan P. Didapp, diplomatic adviser of the present Mexican insurrection before leaving here to return to Mexico.

Senor Didapp declared that among the subscribers to the pool were Charles P. Taft, Henry C. Pierce, of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, and representatives of the Harriman interests. He said Madero had repaid the loan with $2,000,000 premium.

Cows Are Nervous.

Sharon, Pa., Sept. 19.—The scarcity of milk here is said to be due to the myriad of flies, which make the cows too nervous to yield their wonted amount.

DISSOLUTION IS GIGANTIC FARCE

Counsel for Defendant in Suit Against Standard

SAYS BIG COMBINE HAS NOT CHANGED

The Separation Is Merely a Matter of Form.

Counsel for Waters-Pierce Oil Company Says He Will Prove His Statement—Witnesses Show Great Defiance to Orders To Answer Questions—Director's Place Filled by Real Estate Man.

New York, Sept. 19.—That the "dissolution" of the Standard Oil company was a farce, and will be proved such, was the declaration made today by Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the Waters-Pierce Oil company, defendant in a suit brought to force it to recognize as directors, three men elected last February and rejected from the board on the claim that they were representatives of the old Standard Oil company, who sought such a method to regain control of the company.

"We have subpoenaed over thirty witnesses, and before we have finished with them we expect to show that the so-called dissolution of the Standard Oil company, as ordered by the courts, was a dissolution in name only," asserted Mr. Untermeyer.

About ten witnesses had testified when the hearing was resumed today. All of them are, or were, former employes of the Standard Oil company or its subsidiaries.

Witnesses Defiant.

In nearly every case they have shown a defiance to the instructions of Commissioner Jacobs, when told to answer questions, the correct replies to which, the attorney said, would go a long way to prove that the dissolution was a farce.

One of the acts brought out at the hearing so far, is that when the order for dissolution came, the only real change was the resignation of three or four of the old directors from each of the subsidiaries and the filling of their places with minor employes of the company, recruited from the shops, the sales departments or the general office.

Made Directors Quickly.

In one instance, when the remaining directors were in a quandary as to the final election to the board, a real estate man was invited to "come upstairs" at No. 26 Broadway, and came down with the title of director.

Every witness has asserted that the Standard Oil company has been dissolved, and each part is now independent, but under Untermeyer's questioning not one has been able to testify that the former subsidiaries have increased the scope of their business or entered into competition with other subsidiaries since the dissolution.

WIFE'S FAITH IS ABSOLUTE

Mrs. Gibson Declares Husband Is Not Guilty.

WILL STAND BY HIM THROUGH HIS TROUBLE

Says He Is Victim of Some Malign Accident.

Wife of Accused Lawyer Visits Him in Cell and Confers Over the Conduct of the Case—Says Suspicious Circumstances Will Be Cleared Up. Tells of Happiness of Their Wedded Life.

Rutherford, N. J., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Burton W. Gibson today broke her silence for the first time, and defended her husband, who is in jail at Goshen, New York, charged with the murder of Countess Rost Menschik Szabo, for her fortune.

"I know my husband is innocent of the terrible charges brought against him," she declared. 'I know him to be one of the best and most honorable men in the world. I have perfect faith in him, and I am going to stand by him as long as there is a breath left in my body."

Confers with Husband.

Mrs. Gibson had just returned home from Goshen, where she conferred with her husband in his cell over the conduct of his case.

"If there are unfortunate circumstances just at present," she continued, "that seem to other people to be suspicious or to look bad for him, that is just because, through no fault of his own, he is the victim of some unlucky coincidence, some malign accident that has thrown for the moment the wrong light upon his actions.

"We have been married for fourteen years now, and we have always been very happy together. We have just grown up together, and that is what makes it so hard on both of us."

Will Produce Mother.

Goshen, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Burton W. Gibson, facing the crucial period of his fight to defend himself against the charge that he strangled the Countess Rosa Menschik Szabo to death, stoutly maintained today that he could and would produce the mother of the countess.

It was the last day of grace the imprisoned lawyer had before making to Surrogate Fowler, of New York, a showing of his administration of the estate of the countess and he knew full well that upon that showing depended, in great measure, his entire line of defense.

The lawyer paced the floor of his cell today, and read the testimony of George Teichmann, that Gibson had threatened the countess when she refused to lend him money. Then he said.

"I wonder what all this means? Every day I hear that this man Teichmann has said something new. What is the matter? Is he demented I do not believe that I ever saw this fellow in my life.

Wants To See Fowler.

"I would like to get in touch with Surrogate Fowler and have an understanding with him. If I can get the assurance of the surrogate that what I write to him will be held in confidence, I will tell him exactly what I did with the estate, and the explanation would be satisfactory to the surrogate.

"The mother of the countess is alive, and I can produce her. I will produce her if I have the chance."

Gibson was intensely interested in knowing what was transpiring in connection with the case before the surrogate, much more so than in any of the other phases of the case. He was not even moved by the report that Detective Moore, of Orange county, had discovered evidence that the countess was really strangled to death on Roosevelt island, and her body thrown into the lake.

Judge Dunbar Dies.

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 19.—Chief Justice Ralph Dunbar, of the Washington supreme court, who had been a member of that tribunal since this state was admitted to the union, died suddenly of apoplexy here last night. At the statewide primary last week he was nominated on a non-partisan ticket to succeed himself.

HAS PERFECT RIGHT TO WHACK HUSBAND.

New York, Sept. 19.—According to the opinion of Justice Marean, the act of a wife, who returns her husband's kiss by whacking him on the head with a broomstick, does not constitute cruel and inhuman treatment.

NOBILITY WILL ATTEND THE CHRISTENING OF BABY OF LADY DECIES, FORMERLY MISS VIVIEN GOULD

Elaborate ceremonies are under way in preparation for the christening on September 29 at Stoke Poges church, London, of the infant daughter of Lord and Lady Decies. Some of the most notable members of English nobility and aristocracy, as well as numerous persons prominent in social and financial circles on this side of the Atlantic, will also attend the ceremonies. Lady Decies was Helen Vivien Gould, daughter of the New York society leader, when, at the horse-show of 1910, she attracted the attention of Lord Decies, the dashing soldier-noble. A short, but ardent, courtship was followed by the announcement of their engagement, which caused considerable criticism because of the difference in the ages of bride and groom. Vivien Gould was barely eighteen while Lord Decies was past forty. Above at the right is shown Lady Decies, to the left, are shown Lord and Lady Decies and below is the likeness of the Duchess of Waterford.

WANTS TAFT TO BACK STIMSON

Greiner Thinks War Secretary Is Best Man

TO HEAD REPUBLICAN TICKET IN NEW YORK

Moosers in Washington Losing Ground.

Buffalo Postmaster Calls on President This Morning—Promises Big Fight in Empire State After Convention Has Selected Leader—Mr. Taft Will Go to Chelsea Tonight To Speak at Dedication.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 19.—Fred C. Greiner, postmaster at Buffalo, and a firm believer that Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson would be the strongest candidate for the Republicans to nominate for governor of New York, breakfasted with the president at Parramatta today. He talked over the New York situation and had some interesting news to impart. He wants the president to alter his policy of "hands off," and lend his influence for Stimson.

Greiner said that Stimson would be the strongest candidate, that Oscar S. Straus would get more votes from the Democrats than from the Republicans, and that he would be tickled if the Democrats named Dix again.

"We have a fight on our hands," said Greiner, "but after the convention is over we will get down to business and start a campaign. There will be something doing from then until the polls close."

The Budget System.

The president will probably issue a statement soon in relation to the working of the budget system, and Secretary MacVeagh of the treasury, will probably submit his estimates according to the new budget form, instead of by the old way. This plan will show up the difference in the systems and the value of the new.

H. F. McGregor, national committeeman from Texas, is to visit the president this afternoon.

A letter from Governor M. E. Hay, of Washington, informed the president that conditions are looking brighter for a Taft victory in November. The Roosevelt forces are apparently losing ground, he said, and the Republicans are taking hold of the campaign with new life.

The president will go to Chelsea tonight, where he will deliver an address at the exercises in connection with the dedication of the new federal building in that city.

The Silver Market.

New York, Sept. 19.—Bar silver 63⅛ cents; Mexican dollars 48½ cents.

BELFAST MOBS ARE DISPERSED

Troops Are Called Out To Restore Order.

ABOUT 100 PERSONS INJURED IN RIOTING

Unionists Go Through Streets Breaking Windows.

The Fiercest Disturbance Since First Outbreak Three Days Ago Takes Place When Fight Starts Between Orangemen and Home-Rulers. Police Are Stoned and Troops Only Can Handle Situation.

Belfast, Sept. 19.—After a night of constant rioting, during which there was much destruction of private property, troops finally dispersed the mobs today by taking charge of policing the city. About 100 persons were hurt.

The rioting was the fiercest which has taken place since the first outbreak three days ago.

The outbreak began with a fight between Orangemen and a band of homerulers. Unionists turned out in great numbers. They marched through the residential section of the town, smashing windows of Catholic homes and breaking into stores.

From the residential quarter the rioters marched into the business district, continuing their violence. The constabulary and police, who were first sent to quell the disorder, were stoned and driven off. Finally the troops were called out and quiet was restored.

Kubelick Changes Name.

Budapest, Sept. 19.—Jan Kubelik, the violinist, has changed his name to Janos Polda. The latter means citizen.

CONVICT MAINTAINS ABSOLUTE SILENCE

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 19.—After maintaining absolute silence for two years, Charles Carson, sentenced to death next Friday, remained silent when informed he had been reprieved until November 8.

AGED MAN ATTEMPTS LIFE AFTER QUARREL

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 19.—Because his young sweetheart quarreled with him, William Broscius, eighty-three, tried to kill himself by firing a bullet through his body.

SERIOUS RIOTS IN BUDAPEST

City Virtually Placed Under Martial Law.

TWENTY-FOUR ARE EXPECETED TO DIE

Parliament Building Is Under Heavy Guard.

Anti-Government Political Party Starts Trouble—Eighty Are Arrested for Participating in the Fight, Which Follows Socialist Mass Meeting—Crowd Packs the Street to Parliament Hall.

Budapest, Sept. 19.—Twenty-four persons will probably die as a result of street rioting by members of the anti-government political party last night and early today.

The parliament building is under heavy military guard, and soldiers patrol the streets. The city is virtually under martial law.

Although eighty men and women were arrested for participation in the fighting, which followed a Socialist mass meeting last night, all but thirty-seven were liberated today with a reprimand and warning.

A majority of the seriously crippled were trampled by cavalry horses.

Mob Packs Streets.

The mob packed the streets leading to Parliament hall so tightly that they could not move. The troopers charged several times upon the rioters before the edge of the crowd gave way, and the mass of people dissolved into side streets.

In anticipation of a renewal of rioting in the chamber of deputies today, soldiers were stationed in the hall before the hour of convening.

Many of the central streets around the boulevards were so littered with debris today that traffic had to be diverted until troops could clean them up.

Married Sixty-Eight Years.

Alliance, O., Sept. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Heiserman celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of their wedding yesterday. He is eighty-eight years old and she is eighty-six.

Blind Man's Club.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 19.—A blind man's club has been organized here for the purpose of directing a campaign against street beggars.

TWO ARRESTED IN NICK OF TIME

Man and Woman Preparing To Leave Gotham.

TAKEN AS WITNESSES AGAINST LIEUTENANT

The Prisoners Give Shelter to "Bald Jack" Rose.

Former City Chamberlain Hyde To Be Called as a Witness in Investigation of the Rosenthal Murder Case—Buckner, Counsel for Aldermanic Graft Committee, Has Several Questions To Clean Up.

New York, Sept. 19.—Two more arrests were made in the Rosenthal case today. Following the discovery that they were preparing to leave the jurisdiction of the New York courts, Harry Pollick, a sporting promoter, and Mrs. Carrie Pollock were taken into custody as material witnesses in the state's case against Lieutenant Charles A. Becker, who is accused of having caused the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

The woman arrested posed as the wife of Pollock. After their arrest they were taken to the detective bureau attached to the district attorney's office, and later were arranged before Justice Goff in the criminal term of the supreme court.

It was at the Pollock home that "Bald Jack" Rose was harbored for two days after the murder of Rosenthal.

Justice Goff fixed Pollock's bail at $5,000 and the latter said he would arrange to furnish it some time during the afternoon.

Program Outlined.

New York, Sept. 19.—To have the way at today's session of the aldermanic graft investigating committee for calling Charles H. Hyde, formerly city chamberlain, and close friend of Mayor Gaynor as a witness was the program outlined this morning by Emory R. Buckner, counsel for the committee.

Mr. Buckner stated that Hyde's name had been on the list of possible witnesses since the campaign was commenced, but it was not until the controversy involving Under Sheriff A. J. Johnson, Attorney George C. Norton, the alleged "promotion broker," in the police department, and Winfield R. Sheehan, commissioner Waldo's private secretary, developed that Hyde's testimony became important.

The committee's counsel wants to know what information if any, Hyde has of the grafting in the police department and the "bureau of promotion," where police officials could buy any number of stripes that their pocketbooks could stand.

Both from Buffalo.

It was believed that neither Norton nor Sheehan would be called. Both men are originally from Buffalo, and were intimate friends before coming to this city.

Johnson was under orders to report to the committee today to continue his story begun yesterday upon the witness stand, when he told how, being led by "superheated curiosity," he hired private detectives, who trailed Norton to the apartment of Sheehan.

Mr. Buckner said he wanted further light as to why Johnson hired detectives, and with whom he conversed before taking the step. It was Johnson, according to Police Captain John Reith, who made the first advances with an offer to have that official, then a lieutenant, promoted to a captaincy if he would "come across" with $10,000.

Another Question.

Whether or not Hyde was concerned with Johnson in Norton's movements, is another question upon which Buckner wants elucidation.

This same question is to be put to former Sheriff Nicholas Hayes, who was the first person to call Johnson's attention to the alleged headquarters for the collection of police graft in the building at No. 115 Broadway, according to Johnson's testimony. Norton's office is in the building at No. 115 Broadway.

Thomas Hassett, confidential secretary to State Engineer Bensel, who was mentioned in Reith's affidavit as having "been seen" in connection with the $10,000 promotion, came here from Albany, demanding that he be heard in self explanation.

Commissioner Waldo will be called again as soon as all the other witnesses are heard in connection with the Reith affidavit.

Reith, who has been on the force for many years, compiled a table of prices for entrance and promotion in the department. He said it cost him $300 to get into the harbor squad, and $600 for promotion to roundsmaan. A captaincy was worth $10,000 and other grades were valued in proportion.

FINDINGS RETURNED BY CIRCUIT JUDGES

The Circuit Court Concludes Its Work Here.

RESULTS OF LABOR OF THE PAST WEEK

The Judgment of the Lower Court in the Prosecution of Almon Tuttle Is Reversed—The Conviction of Frank Phillips Is Confirmed—The Other Cases.

Saturday at 1:30 o'clock, after deliberating several days, the circuit court reported its opinions on seven of the eight cases which were submitted. Presiding Judge Michael Donnelly, of Napoleon, said the only case which the court did not decide was that of the American Express company against Silas T. Doyle. He announced that the judges did not have sufficient time to consider it and would decide it later.

Tuttle Case Reversed.

Perhaps the most important opinion rendered was that in the case of Almon Tuttle, who was convicted and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for alleged criminal assault upon Miss Floretta Spicer a year ago.

The lower court's conviction of Tuttle was reversed on the ground of misconduct on the part of Attorney Grant E. Mouser, who assisted Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice in the prosecution of Tuttle. Mouser, in his argument to the jury, intimated strongly that Tuttle's counsel, Fred E. Guthery and H. Edmund Hill, manufactured an alibi for their client.

Judge Phil M. Crow, of Kenton, who read the opinion, reviewed the almost unspeakable crime in detail. The bill of exceptions in the case contained 106 pages. He dwelled at some length on Miss Spicer's identification of Tuttle by his voice.

After reviewing all of the assignments of error, however, he said he could find no error except in the conduct of Attorney Mouser before the jury. Mouser's statements and conduct were clearly prejudicial to Tuttle, he said. The court, therefore, he said, reversed the common pleas court and remanded the case for retrial.

The Phillips Case.

In the case of Frank Phillips, convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years for burglary and larceny, Judge Donnelly read the court's majority opinion affirming the common pleas court. Judge Crow dissented. Prosecuting Attorney Justice was somewhat censured for statements made to the jury, but Judges Donnelly and Kinder did not think the statements were sufficiently prejudicial to warrant a reversal.

In explaining why he had dissented, Judge Crow said that the state's attorneys had referred to Phillips as a jail-bird and commented on the fact that he did not testify in his own behalf. This, he said, was prejudicial to Phillips and clearly against the statutes.

Parish Proceeding.

In the error proceeding of George W. Parish and others against the International Harvester Company of America, error was found in the affidavit of attachment issued in the court of Justice Charles H. Conley and it was certified back to the justice's court for retrial. The Harvester company got $45 judgment against Parish, and the court held that the affidavit in attachment was not valid because it did not state facts especially, but used the word "believed."

Oberlander Matter.

In the error case of Henry N. Oberlander against Samuel N. Abel and Charles M. Coonrod, the judgment of the common pleas court was affirmed. Judge Kinder read the court's opinion.

In the court of common pleas, the defendants-in-error, Abel & Coonrod got judgment against Oberlander for $566.52 on the ground that they had been damaged and had expended money in repairing a room, which they occupied on east Center street, following a fire. The damaged room is owned by Oberlander, who, it was claimed, refused to repair it in accordance with a contract.

Three Lid Cases.

In the three bootlegging cases of G. Elliott Stayner, Jacob Weber and Benjamin C. Houseworth, the court affirmed the common pleas court in those of Weber and Houseworth, but reversed the lower court in that of Stayner.

Stayner, Judge Donnelly said, in rendering the court's opinion, was a laboring man. "His conviction on a charge of violating the Rose local-option law is not supported by the evidence against him," he said.

Houseworth was fined $200 by former Mayor John G. Seiter and Weber drew a fine of $150. Stayner was also fined $150.

After the various opinions had been rendered, Presiding Judge Donnelly asked:

"Does anybody wish to ask any questions. If not, the court will be adjourned."

No questions were asked.

Following the adjournment, Prosecuting Attorney Justice announced that the Tuttle case would be carried to the supreme court.

Judge Crow advised Attorney John D. DeGolley, counsel for Phillips, to prosecute error to the supreme court. "You'll win it," he said.

Many a man who knows his place is unable to keep it.

POINTS THE WAY

The Statement of This Byhalia Resident Will Interest Our Readers.

Our neighboring town, Byhalia, points the way in the words of one of its most respected residents:

Miss Louisa Stahl, Byhalia, near Richwood, Ohio, says: "My back ached severely and I was in misery nearly all the time. Dizzy spells also bothered me and I felt very weak. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they so completely relieved me that during the past year, I have had no cause for complaint. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers and I know of cases where they have been used with great benefit."

E. C. STARBUCK IS GIVEN FINE POSITION

Supervisor of Music in Sullivan, Indiana, Schools.

E. C. Starbuck, of No. 132 Carhart street, former supervisor of music in the Marion public schools, has been elected supervisor of music in the public schools at Sullivan, Indiana, at asalary of $1,200. Last year Mr. Starbuck received $810 in this city and was turned down for reelection by the board of education. He came to Marion from Bradford, and was very successful in the administration in the musical department of the schools. His numerous friends will be greatly pleased to learn of his election at Sullivan at a higher salary than he received here.

In the Indiana town, which has a population of about 6,000, Mr. Starbuck, in addition to being the musical director of the schools, will have charge of the school brass band of forty pieces, the school orchestra of thirty instruments and will be director of a big choral society, which is now being organized there. He will also be the director of the M. E. choir. He will receive several hundred dollars a year in addition to his salary as musical director of the schools.

Mr. Starbuck expects to move to Sullivan about October 1. He will succeed Ralph Sloan, who has been musical director of the Sullivan schools several years.

MRS. MARIE SPICER AND TRACY PARRISH

Are United in Marriage at the Livingston Home.

Mrs. Jeanette Marie Spicer and Mr. Tracy Parrish were united in marriage by Rev. H. Livingston at his home on Silver street, at 1 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. They were unattended.

Mrs. Parrish is a daughter of Mr. Harlow Clark, of Richwood, and Mr. Parrish is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Parrish, of Nye street, and is employed by the King Lumber company.

The young people will reside on Nye street for a short time, after which they will make their home on Glad street.

MRS. CHARLES GORE TYPHOID FEVER VICTIM

Passes Away After an Illness of Seven Weeks.

Mrs. Charles Gore died of typhoid fever at her home on the Garden City pike, Friday night at 11 o'clock. She had been ill about seven weeks.

Had the deceased lived until Saturday, she would have celebrated her twenty-five birthday. She is survived by her husband and three small children, a daughter aged five years and two sons aged three years and nine months respectively.

The funeral was held from M. H. Gunder & company's undertaking parlors, Monday.

YEARS DO NOT HAMPER LOWRIE IN HIS WORK

Busy About the Farm at the Age of Ninety-Four.

William Lowrie, aged ninety-four years, who makes his home with his son, J. W. Lowrie, north of Roundhead, says the Kenton Democrat, is still able to be about the farm and help with the chores. There are five fine colts on the place that the aged man has taken a special delight in caring for, walking a quarter mile or more to the pasture field each day to pump water for them.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT

Dr. W. H. Hinklin Sues John McKinstry Friday.

SUIT IS BASED ON A BILL FOR SERVICES

Motion To Dismiss Appeal in Matter of R. T. Lewis & Company Against George W. Parish—Louisa Wilson Seeks To Recover Four Dollars. Defendant Appeals.

Dr. William H. Hinklin has brought suit in the court of common pleas, through Attorney Louis E. Myers, to recover judgement for $49.98, with six per cent. interest, from August 6, 1912, against John McKinstry, as guardian of McKinstry Hayes, aged forty-five years.

Dr. Hinklin got judgement for the full amount before Justice Charles E. Gompf, August 6. The bill of Dr. Hinklin's was for reducing a Collis fracture.

In the suit styled Ralph T. Lewis and Lester S. Lewis, partners doing business under the firm name of R. T. Lewis & Company, against George W. Parish, appealed from the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf Friday, the defendant through Attorney Louis E. Myers, filed a motion to dismiss the appeal. It is claimed that the appeal has not been prosecuted according to law, and no transcript has been duly certified by the justice of the peace.

Louis Wilson against James Robinson is the title of a case, in which the plaintiff seeks four dollars judgment for a stove, filed by Attorney Louis E. Myers in the court of common pleas Friday. The cause comes into the common pleas court on appeal by the defendant from the court of Justice Charles W. Haberman.

A peculiar suit was instituted in the court of common pleas, Saturday morning, when seven-year-old Gerald H. Riley, through his next best friend, Inez Lewis, brought an action to restrain the boy's father, Harry Riley, from disposing of or encumbering real estate in which the child has a one-fourth interest, subject to the dower of his mother. The real estate in question consists of 120 acres in Big Island township and is valued at $12,000.

The petition was filed by Eyman & Thompson. It is further set up that the boy has an interest in the personal property of the estate of the late Horace W. Riley, of Big Island township.

It is charged that the father has always made every effort possible to escape providing for the child, and is remaining now in concealment to escape prosecution for non-support. The grandparents, with whom the youthful plaintiff lives, are old and not in adequate financial circumstances to maintain the boy, it is averred. His mother is also unable to care for him, it is claimed, and by reason of the acts and conduct of the father the child is said to have suffered irreparable injury and damage. Inasmuch as the boy has "no plain, adequate and complete remedy at law," his attorneys pray for an injunction restraining the father from disposing of or encumbering his real estate, and for such other and further relief as is proper and just. Judge W. E. Scofield granted the injunction as prayed for by the plaintiff.

In the suit of George W. Saiter against Emily C. Mayfield and others, Elmer G. Mayfield and Emily C. Mayfield have filed answers, setting up general deniels, through Mouser & Moloney. This is a suit over a mechanic's lien. About the same time the answers were filed, the plaintiff, through Atorney Louis E. Myers, filed a motion to compel Elmer G. Mayfield to make his answer more definite and certain.

Dr. James Wilson McMurray, through Attorney Charles L. Justice, has begun suit in the court of common pleas against Mary M. Wheeler to recover $81.93 judgment on a promissory note certified from the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf.

CALEDONIA YOUNG PEOPLE ARE MARRIED

Miss Ethel Stearns and Mr. Carl Thew United.

Miss Ethel Stearns and Mr. Carl Thew, both of near Caledonia, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stearns, one and a half miles east of Caledonia, Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert C. Edginton. The marriage comes as a great surprise to the friends of the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Thew will reside on south High street.

IMPORTED CHALICE FOR CAREY PRIEST

Rev. Father Fish To Receive a Token of Esteem.

As a token of the esteem in which he is held by the officers of the New Jersey state prison, the Rev. Father Aloysius Fish, the former Catholic chaplain of the institution, will be given an imported gold chalice, which he may use in his new church at Carey, Ohio, says the Trenton, New Jersey, Times. The resignation of the Rev. Father Fish took effect August 31, and he is now living in the western city.

The chalice is a handsome piece of workmanship and an emblem of engraver's art. On the cup portion are engraved the portraits of the twelve apostles and other ornamental features. The stem and base are also beautifully engraved in handsome design. The chalice was purchased from Seiz Brothers, New York, the leading dealers in church supplies in the country. It will be forwarded to Father Fish in a few days.

WAITS IN VAIN FOR THE BRIDE TO ARRIVE

D. D. Johnson Disappointed in His Wedding Plans.

D. D. Johnson, of Shelby, who formerly conducted a roof paint manufacturing plant in Galion, near the Big Four and east Church street, is still looking for the bride who never came, says the Galion Inquirer.

Mr. Johnson, who confesses to fifty or thereabouts, has been on the lookout for a wife for some time, but has been unfortunate in his quest for a better half. Not long ago, as the story is told, an evangelist agreed to supply the much wanted helpmate for his friend Johnson, and on Tuesday of this week the bride was expected to arrive from Cincinnati and the marriage was scheduled to take place, at the home of the groom's brother in this locality. But the woman in the case failed to appear, there could be no wedding without a bride, and the guests ate the supper even though it failed to prove a wedding feast.

MARION YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED IN DETROIT

Miss Rose Martin and Mr. Jacob Eby Wed.

A wire from Detroit, Saturday announces the marriage of Miss Rose Martin, aged twenty years, and Mr. Jacob B. Eby, aged thirty-three years, a clerk, both of Marion. The marriage was performed by Justice Degan at his office in that city, Wednesday evening.

When called over the telephone, Mrs. Eby denied the marriage to the reporter, and refused to give out any information, affirming or denying it. Saturday and the young people were congratulated.

Miss Martin and Mr. Eby went to Detroit, Wednesday, and returned to Marion, Thursday night, keeping their marriage from their friends but the news was whispered about this morning and the young people were being congratulated today.

Mrs. Eby is a daughter of John Martin, of north State street, and is employed as a stenographer by Carhart & Warner.

JOINED IN MARRIAGE AT JUSTICE'S OFFICE

Miss Mary Carlyle and Mr. Welcome Grant.

Miss May Carlyle, of LaRue, and Mr. Welcome Grant, of Marion, were united in marriage by Justice Charles E. Gompf at the latter's office on south Main street, Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The young people were attended by the groom's father, Samuel Grant, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant will make their future home on a farm near LaRue.

FATHER AND SON ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Edward Edleman Is Killed Near Delaware Thursday.

Edward Edleman, a tinner employed by a Delaware firm, fell a distance of thirty feet from the roof of the home of William Griffith, near Delaware, Thursday.

The victim suffered a broken right thigh and internal injuries which resulted in his death nine hours after the accident. The deceased was thirty years of age, and a son of the late Andrew Edleman, who was killed by a train at Crestline several years ago.

NEW RULING AS TO THE PAYMENT OF PENSIONS

A Measure of Interest to the Local Pensioners.

CHANGE IN METHOD OF THE DEPARTMENT

Provisions Where Vouchers Are Not Received and How Checks Will Be Directed—What Is To Be Done in Case a Certificate Is Lost. Identifying by Witnesses.

Local pensioners will be interested in a new ruling regarding the payment of pensions which will affect some of them.

Changes in method of payment of pensions as authorized by the act of August 17, 1912:

Pensions falling due December 4, 1912, and thereafter, will be paid without vouchers in all cases in which vouchers and penalty envelopes are not furnished. Those receiving vouchers with their checks must execute and present them for payment as heretofore.

Checks drawn without vouchers will be mailed to the last known postoffice address of the pensioner, on the date the payment becomes due and no receipt will be required.

Postmasters will not forward letters containing pension checks. To prevent their return and insure prompt delivery, pensioners paid without vouchers must give notice of any change in postoffice address before the time for mailing their checks.

Such notices must show the number of the pension certificate, and the law under which the pension is granted, as well as the pensioner's name, to prevent error, as there are many instances of more than one pensioner of the same name. They should be addressed to the pension agent, who pays the pension until January 31, 1913, after which date they should be addressed to the commissioner of pensions, Washington, D. C., as the act above cited abolishes all pension agencies from and after January 31, 1912, and provides for payment of pensions by a disbursing clerk under the commissioner of pensions.

If the certificate is lost the pensioner must make prompt application to the commissioner of pensions for a new one, as checks to be issued without vouchers can not be endorsed without exhibiting the pension certificate to two identifying witnesses.

J. L. Davenport,
Commissioner of Pensions.

BARKING OF DOG SAVES THE FAMILY

Residence of Bert Hamilton Is Destroyed by Fire.

The residence of Bert Hamilton, in the Asbury neighborhood, four miles north of Marysville, was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Friday morning, says the Marysville Tribune. The loss on house and contents is estimated at $2,500, with insurance of $1,200 on the dwelling and $200 on furnishings, carried with the OhioFarmers' Insurance Company.

There is not the slightest known reason as to the origin of the blaze. Mr. Hamilton was away from home over night and his wife, daughter and Eldon Watts, a farm hand, barely escaped with their lives, as the flames had about enveloped the stairway when one of them was awakened. No household goods were saved.

Mr. Watts in all probability, owes his life to the loud barking of the family dog, which aroused him. At this time the fire was burning fiercely within a few feet of his bed and in five minutes more all avenues of escape would have been cut off.

MRS. GUY HUFFMAN DIES LAST FRIDAY

Death Is the Result of a Long Illness.

Mrs. Guy Huffman, aged about twenty-five years, formerly Miss Nellie Bricker, of Green Camp, died from a complication of diseases at the Sawyer sanitorium at White Oaks farm, last Friday morning. Her death had been expected for some time.

Six months ago, Mrs Huffman suffered an attack of nervous prostration, from which she never fully recovered. She was born and raised near Green Camp and was well known. She was prominent in church affairs, having been a member of the Reformed German church west of Green Camp.

The deceased is survived by her husband and two small children, together with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bricker; a brother, Charles Bricker, and three sisters, Mrs. Landy Vanatta, Ruth and Mayme Bricked.

AN INFANT VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS

RECALLED FROM ARMY FOR CHURCH DUTIES

Father Lawrence Denning Given Two Rural Parishes.

LEBANON AND MONROE TO BE SCENE OF LABOR

The Parishes Are Two of the Best in the Rural Precincts of the Diocese. Father Denning Has Many Friends in Marion—Visitor in the City at Present.

Recalled from the army because his services were needed as a priest in this diocese, Father Lawrence Denning, a brother of Father Joseph Denning, pastor of St. Mary's church, has been appointed by Archbishop Moeller, of Cincinnati, pastor of the Catholic parishes at Lebanon and Monroe.

News of Father Denning's clerical appointment was received in Marion, Friday, and his hundreds of friends and acquaintances will be pleased to learn of the order, which makes him pastor of two of the best rural parishes in Ohio. Father Denning is regarded as one of the ablest young priests in the diocese, and Archbishop Moeller recalled him from his army post for that reason. He will take up his new duties next week. He is now the guest of his brother in this city.

Father Denning was appointed chaplain in the navy, four years ago, by President Roosevelt on the recommendation of the then Secretary of War Taft. The appointment was made after Father Denning had made a personal call on the president in the White House. He was accompanied by Father Joseph Denning and former Congressman Grant E Mouser, both of whom strongly urged the appointment of Father Denning as a chaplain in the United States army.

After being stationed in the West for some time, Father Denning was transferred to the Atlantic coast and was stationed when recalled by the archbishop, at Newport, Rhode Island.

Before receiving his appointment in the army, Father Denning was pastor for a short time at Plain City. He was educated in St. Gregory's seminary, Cincinnati. In college he gained quite a reputation as an athlete.

EDITH BLACK IS HIT BY THE ERIE LUPREX

An Accident at Caledonia Late Friday Afternoon.

Caledonia, O., Sept. 14—[Special]—When waiting for an Erie train, due here at 4:40 o'clock Friday afternoon, eighteen-year-old Edith Black was struck by the engine deadwood of the Erie "express" train running east on the Big Four tracks. She was hurled to the station platform, sustaining a badly bruised right shoulder, a dislocated right thumb and a sprained ankle.

At the time Miss Black was looking eastward, with her back turned toward the luprex train, which conveys Galion employes to and from Marion. She was taken to the home of J. D. Harrison, where Dr. J. E. Baker attended. Her condition is not serious.

SATURDAY - - - - SEPTEMBER 21

Anyway, we know that Armageddon is not located up in the woods of Maine.

There must be times when Mr. Madero regrets that he ever took the job off Mr. Diaz's hands.

Even the distinguished citizen of Oyster Bay should recognize the folly of holding out to the people that one pair of legs carried around all the commendable superlatives possible in man.

It must have been terribly annoying to those two New York gun men to have been caught in Brooklyn.

However, in case of serious trouble with any of our Latin-American neighbors, Colonel Roosevelt might be coaxed into giving up his vigil at Armageddon by promising him the job of general commanding.

The local variety of Bull Moose enthusiasm doesn't appear to be quite so "catching" as the disease described in a patent medicine ad.

It is said that former Champion John L. Sullivan is going to take the stump for Mr. Roosevelt. If the thing keeps on, the Progressives may have to change their name to the Ancient and Honorable Order of Dead Ones.

The grocers tell us the Indiana sweetheart melon crop is a failure. No summer can be considered a success without a crop of sweethearts.

The Toledo Times says: "Golf players are a clean-cut lot of sportsmen." We are willing to admit that golf furnishes a reasonable amount of stimulating and wholesome exercise and interest, but it would never occur to us to class its devotees as sportsmen.

The baseball players in the Ohio penitentiary league regret exceedingly that they are not subject to the draft.

Whenever "Tama Jim" Wilson assures us the crops are safe we are willing to have Artist Jack Frost go to work again on the foliage with his magic brush.

Manufacturers report a demand for larger stockings for women. Why not? The country was never so prosperous nor money so plentiful before.

Still, it's hardly probable that even Colonel Roosevelt will have any conception of the number of liars and cuttlefishes in the country till he has the returns on the votes the other fellows receive.

If we get Mr. Taft's view, he hasn't any fear of this country being turned into an incipient monarchy before his next birthday.

"If the Bull Moose dies in November, will Georgo Perkins commit hari-kari as a tribute?" asks the Washington Post. Hardly. George will probably explain that it wasn't a matter of personal friendship: that he was simply acting as a representative of the trusts.

A friend of Mayor Gaynor says the trouble with the mayor is his temperament. The next thing we know, somebody will be telling us the mayor is the possessor of a dual personality. That's the most popular defense, just at present.

The Colonel probably wants "Battling Bob" La Follette to go away and earn a reputation for progressiveness before he will take him on for a scrap.

There seems to be a serious divergence of views upon some important questions of public policy among the members of the Outlook staff. For instance, Dr. Lyman Abbott, the editor-in-chief, is opposed to woman suffrage at all times and in all places, while the contributing editor is in favor of it where the women have it and opposed to it where they have not. But we do not apprehend that there will be any resignations until the end of the present campaign puts an end to the pecuniary value of the Colonel as an advertisement.

If the Colonel isn't friendly to the trusts, he's certainly guilty of having secured some rather large campaign contributions under false pretenses.

A New York minister has been arrested, as insane, for holding that there are evil spirits in the metropolis. Do the authorities down there expect him to catalogue "Lefty Louie" and "Gyp, the Blood" as saints?

According to Dr. Wiley, a man's greatest usefulness comes between sixty and seventy. That ought to leave the doctor to the Chautauqua circuits for four or five years yet.

The Cleveland Leader says Chicago savings bank deposits have been decreased. Awful thought! The saving people of the Windy City may have blown in $3,000,000 buying those high-priced gallery seats to the recent Bull Moose convention.

THE BANKER AND THE FARMER.

The Ohio Bankers' association has "resoluted" in favor of asking such of its members as own farm lands to operate them as model farms and agricultural experiment stations for the enlightment of the regular tiller of the soil. But it occurs to us that the banker could help more in the good cause if he would teach the farmer how to figure costs, how to market his crops and how to invest the money he receives for them. There is an old-saying about the merit of the shoemaker who sticks to his last. There is no mystery about farming except the mysteries of nature. Farmers are not born, they are made and inspiration does not qualify a banker to become the prime minister of Ceres.

The Colonel says he hasn't made a promise to anybody, but neither George Perkins nor any other fellow prominent in the management of any of the "good" trusts was ever known to make a noise like a man going it blind.

TRAITS OF THE BULL MOOSER.

That Democratic speaker down at Hartford, Connecticut, made a fine characterization of the not important, we are interested in what he said. Speaking of T. R. he declared: "The little blue flower of modesty never blossomed in his garden. There was a prejudice against a third-term nomination. He brushed it aside. Taft was his true and loving friend. He slugged him over the ropes. La Follette was entitled to his support. He shot him down the chutes. The grand old party stood in the way. He ripped it wide open." All true, but the ripping. He is only attempting that. We are not yet ready to admit his success in that endeavor. But he has taken with him a great many former Republicans who have the same marked attributes, and a few who are really conscientious and sincere. Note, we say a few. They are exceedingly limited.

Take Arthur Garford, for example. He can do some brushing aside on his own account. Some Republicans, who are Taft supporters because they are Republicans, went to Mr. Garford on the eve of the second session of the Republican state convention, and talked with him concerning making him the harmony candidate for governor. Personal regard entered into the considerations. But there was a defiant statement in an interview, which Mr. Garford had given to the press. He brushed the statement aside, saying it meant nothing, that he had been chairman of the Roosevelt forces at Chicago and it was deemed best to hold the Roosevelt forces together, and he emitted a battle cry only to keep them in line. Moreover, he would gladly accept the nomination—no platform reference was made—and lead the Ohio Republican campaign. But the statement had offended, and Mr. Garford failed of a nomination! When T. R. commanded, he brushed all party devotion aside.

And Randolph Walton, candidate for congressman-at-large, he is some brusher aside, when ambition calls and a Bull Moose answers. Randolph has been a Republican pap-sucker from early days. More than a dozen years ago he grabbed a Republican teat at the state-house, and never let go, except to cry for some other office, until a Democratic house-cleaning pried him loose. Then Randolph Walton still stood true to his diet till the Bull Moose carousal began, and he fancied he might grab new sustenance in the melee, and Randolph brushed.

We omit the local demonstrations, which are well understood. The whole game is 99⅞ per cent. promotion of selfish ambition or hostility to somebody in the Republican party, with one-eighth believing there is really some purpose in this human uplift and high and mighty idealizing.

On a train out of Columbus recently, a noisy Bull Mooser was shouting his consecration to the common good, and proclaiming his heart-throbs for humanity. A modest, curious Republican drew him into argument, spoke of the conscience grown sensitive, and before the first station was reached the zealous Bull Mooser confidentially announced his expectation of the legislative nomination in his county, and expressed the hope that a people, knowing his sincerity, would elect him in November.

Great, isn't it? Ninety-nine Bull Moosers in a hundred are weepers because they are out or are wailers wanting in. It is true of Teddy at the top, and characteristic of the Bull Moose tribe from top to bottom.

GREAT ARTIST AT FOOLING THE PEOPLE.

Mr. Roosevelt seems to have discovered that he was a very poorly informed and inefficient president of the United States during his two terms of office. He does not, of course, recite a litany bewailing that he has done those things which he ought not to have done and left undone those things which he ought to have done—confession is no part of the Rooseveltian creed—but he is daily bringing up new ideas and adapting old ones, none of them original, but all presented as "new issues forming part of my policies." They vary in different parts of the country and many of them are in direct conflict with others similarly advanced, but that carves no congealed water with the Colonel. His is not a constructive or consecutive mind. Whatever he thinks will "listen good" to the electors he happens to be talking to, is a good enough issue for the occasion, and he grows correspondingly enthusiastic in endorsement or truculent in denunciation as the response from the crowd seems to suggest. If called to account later, he unblushingly denies that he ever made the statement, which seems to have been unwise. He is his own press agent, censor and billposter, and he is not afraid of anything getting past him. He can be for a sweeping downward revision of the tariff in the Middle West and strongly for protection in the East and South, and any one who sees inconsistency in his attitude is a liar and the slave of the interests. In the East he stands for Pinchot and his desire to preserve all our national resources for our suppositious descendants, while in the West he favors the ideas of conservation for which he so severely criticized Mr. Ballinger. Still Mr. Roosevelt has been wonderfully successful in fooling most of the people all the time, and sees no reason for believing that he can not keep on doing so.

THE DEFEAT OF GOOD ROADS.

The defeat of the "good roads" amendment did not imply a hostility upon the part of the people to the building of improved highways. It was the wastefulness of the scheme, the injustice it contemplated toward the progressive counties which had already been heavily taxed for road building, uncertainty as to plans proposed to be followed, and a realization that the whole matter was one properly for deliberate, discussive legislation, that impelled the voters to oppose it. Again it was one amendment which did not greatly interest the organized big city vote, and it gave it little attention, while the rural, tax-paying voter could see little merit in paying interest upon long-time bonds to accomplish what can be done by direct levy and appropriation.

ONE FOR ANALYSIS.

Governor Wilson remarks with great emphasis "I would a great deal rather lose in a cause that I know some day will triumph, than triumph in a cause that I know some day will lose." This sounds epigrammatical at first, and one is almost fooled into believing that it means something. But try to analyze it and you will find it is merely a verbal run-a-round.

THE TARIFF AND THE PRICE OF EGGS

We suppose the Democratic publicity bureau thinks there is no real, common horse sense on the part of the people. We clip this bit of dreary dribble and dunder-headed dope about the tariff. Take a mental stimulant before you read, so you can be sure to grasp it. Ready? All right, here it is:

Pipe the plac-id Hen.
It is a Cana-di-an Hen.
Is it a dan-ger-ous bird?
A-las, yes.
But the bless-ed Tar-iff protects us a-gains its eggs.
It keeps them out of New York.
Will you pay fif-ty cents a dozen for eggs next winter?
Oh, yes. There's a rea-son.

Do you get it? The most convincing anti-tariff argument ever uttered. We will omit discussion from the farmers' standpoint, assuming that he prefers to sell eggs for all he can. We are thinking of the consumer. The tariff makes fifty-cent eggs—that's the inference, the tariff being a tax. Eggs in New York today are twenty-five cents to thirty cents. In May they were twenty cents to twenty-four cents. The tariff has not been changed in three years. Last Christmas time they were fifty-four cents per dozen, and next Christmas they will be fifty cents to fifty-five cents again, and the horrifying tariff tax of five cents per dozen was the same when they sold at twenty cents as when they sold at fifty-five cents. More, the Star looked into the produce market of free trade England a little more than two years ago, where there is no tariff, mind you, and where wages are less than half the American scale, and eggs at Christmas time were selling at seventy-two cents per dozen.

The Democritic primer writers might insert this paragraph:

"Will you vote for Democratic tariff policy, get ninety-eight cents a day for your work and pay seventy-two cents a dozen for eggs next winter?"

The simple truth is that the hens fix the price of eggs. When they lay industriously, eggs are plenty, and the price is down. When winter comes on, the hens take a vacation, eggs are scarce, and the price goes up. The high or low cost is traceable to no other source. If the tariff made the price, eggs would be as cheap in December as they are in May.

A SAMPLE OF HIS FAKING.

General J. Warren Keifer recently related an incident of the astonishing hypocrisy of Colonel Roosevelt, and here in Ohio, or wherever he is known, General Keifer's word is good. But in this case we need not wholly take his word, for press reports and government records tell the same story. But the faking incident was so bold that it needed some knowing one like General Keifer to reveal its effrontery.

During the campaign preliminary to the Ohio primary election, the Colonel spoke at Springfield, Ohio, a city which contains a large colored vote. Roosevelt had been tipped to square himself to the colored voters in the Brownville matter. He said, essentially, "I have been criticized for the dismissal of the colored soldiers at Brownsville." Then he grinned, revealed his teeth, patted himself on the chest, and went on. "You know under my administration, Mr. Taft was my secretary of war, and the Brownsville dismissal was the War secretary's order. More, I am criticized for not restoring the innocent to their rights. Well, Mr. Taft has been president for more than three years, and you haven't heard of any of the discharged negroes being restored by him, in all that time." Then the Colonel grinned again, and there was applause, and to the distressed colored voter Teddy was at least as considerate as Taft.

But note the truth as General Keifer tells it. "I shouldn't have known the extent of the humbug, but for the fact that in the last conversation I ever had with President Roosevelt he urged me to join in passing the bill to prevent any restoration of the discharged men, such a bill was passed before Roosevelt retired from the presidency, was passed through his insistence, and President Taft couldn't restore the outraged soldiers because of a barrier President Roosevelt erected to prevent his doing so. More, the discharge, laid by the president to Secretary Taft, was made against Mr Taft's advice, though the latter was in the Philippines at the time, and had no hand in the matter."

It is not a vastly important recital now, except as it reveals the real Roosevelt. The man is utterly without conscience or regard for truth and the greatest fakir of his time.

A LIVE FIGHT FOR JUDGSHIP.

The common pleas subdivision composed of Marion, Crawford and Wyandot counties is to witness a live fight in the last election for a judge in which the three counties will participate. The new constitutional provision gives each county a resident judge, to be elected by the county as a district within itself, but the new arrangement does not become fully effective until 1914. Marion has a resident judge, Crawford has one in Judge Babst, and will continue to have, no matter who is elected, since all candidates are residents of Crawford county, and Wyandot will elect her own judge in 1914. Meanwhile, the common pleas courts in the three counties will be presided over as heretofore.

Ordinarily, the district fight has been a tame one, for we had nominees on the party tickets and the district is overwhelmingly Democratic. Often the Republicans were not enough interested to name a candidate. This year, however, the names of candidates go upon a separate, non-partisan ticket, with nothing to indicate political preference or party sponsorship, and the contest becomes purely a personal one. Even this arrangement would leave us a dull contest, with Judge Babst seeking a second term, but a personal quarrel between Judge Babst and Attorney Benjamin Meck, also a Democrat, has brought out charges so serious that the bar associations of the district have seriously turned to investigation, and Judge Babst or Would-be-Judge Meck is bound to be discredited. Amid this situation, Hon. W. J. Geer, the well-known Galion attorney, announces his candidacy, and has his petitions filed for a place on the ticket. All three of the candidates come from the same county, one from Crestline, one from Bucyrus, and one from Galion. Ordinarily, the vote of Crawford county would settle the election, but it is not likely to do so, since a bitter fight is involved. On the face of things, Mr. Geer has entered the contest at a promising time, and can move along serenely in a campaign wholly aloof from the warfare between the Democratic candidates.

Foreman, collecting delinquent tax assessments, $226 04; Mouser & Moloney, $350, for assisting Prosecutor Charles L. Justice in prosecuting Almon Tuttle, convicted of criminal assault, and $200 for assisting the prosecutor in the trial of Dr. William A. Charter, charged with performing a criminal operation.

The report, which contains forty typewritten pages, shows no totals.

The report of the board of turnpike commissioners, filed at the same time, shows an ependiture of something like $30,000 for pike repairs.

Charles F. Kraner and Sophia Fies against Thomas L. Ryal and others, is the title of a suit to quiet title in property located on south Main street Among the defendants named are James S. Rayl and Mary Rayl, his wife; Matilda Morris, widow; William P. Rayl and Lottie Rayl, his wife; Minna D. Rayl, widow of Edward Rayl; Priscilla Rayl, widow of Samuel Rayl; John E. Rayl and Mettie Rayl, his wife; Catherine Rayl, Margaret Peacock and Edward Peacock, her husband; Everett Rayl and Flo Rayl, his wife, and Lulu Rayl The action was started Monday morning, through Conley & Johnson.

In the partition suit of Maud Johnson against Samuel Johnson, George Smith, C. S. Lippincott and Edward Smith were appointed commissioners by Judge W. E. Scofield, Monday.

The injunction suit of Sidney Gruber against James Ullom and others, to restrain the latter from cleaning out the Grave Creek ditch in Marion township, was dismissed Monday afternoon. A settlement was effected out of court.

Monday afternoon in the common pleas court, Judge Duncan, of Findlay, heard evidence on the payment of interest on the money held by the Marion National bank in the old suit of the Marion National bank against the City of Marion. This is a suit growing out of Marion's garbage disposal plant so-called graft case. Some time ago the creditors of the now defunct Clinton Foundry & Machine company of Nazareth, Pennsylvania which built the plant, were decreed the sum of $2,700 placed by it in the Marion National bank. The question before Judge Duncan was he formal dismissing of the suit and the fixing of the amount of interest the bank should pay during the six years it has held the money.

DARIUS D. CLAYTON PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

Dies of Apoplexy at Home at Upper Sandusky.

Judge Darius D. Clayton, a former probate judge of Wyandot county and very well known in Marion, was found dead in his office, at Upper Sandusky, Saturday afternoon shortly after 1:30 o'clock, by R. A. Haner, who has a real estate office in the same rooms. Judge Clayton's death was due to appopexy. The body was in a half kneeling position at a chair and was still warm when found.

The deceased was sixty-two years of age and a widower. He is survived by two sons and two daughters. The sons are attending school in Columbus and the daughters reside in Chicago. Judge Clayton was one of the most prominent residents of the Indian village. He was superintendent of the Upper Sandusky public schools from 1877 to 1878, and later served as probate judge six years. For years he had been one of the leading attorneys of that place.

JAMES KENNEY KILLED BY AN ERIE PASSENGER

Drives on Track Immediately in Front of Train.

SLICKS STATION IS SCENE OF ACCIDENT

Unfortunate Man Jumps from Wagon When He Sees Train, but Too Late—Team of Valuable Horses Killed—Whereabouts of Relatives of Kenney Unknown.

James Kenney, unmarried, forty-five or fifty years old, a teamster, and a valuable team of horses owned by Contractor Dennis Molloy, were killed at Slick's station, five miles east of this city, Saturday afternoon, when struck at the crossing by westbound Erie passenger train, No. 15, due here shorly after 5 o'clock.

His attention evidently riveted by a passing eastbound freight train on the Big Four tracks and his vision of the passenger train obscured by a cornfield on the north side of the tracks and to the east of him, Kenney drove almost directly in front of the train before he noticed it.

Three fellow teamsters had crossed the tracks ahead of him. None of them knew the passenger train was coming, and all say they heard no warning whistle for the crossing. Kenney's companion-teamsters were Samuel Kimber, of north Main street; Richard Tobin, of Oak street, and John Worline, of Vine street. All of them had been employed by Mr. Molloy in pike work between Caledonia and Martel.

According to the trainmen, Kenney tried to leap out of danger when he saw the engine upon him. He was picked up about twenty-five feet from the crossing. The two horses, crushed and mangled, were carried almost 150 feet down the tracks.

One of the cylinder heads of the engine was broken in, and it was necessary for a local freight engine at Caledonia to bring the train on to Marion.

Coroner Views Body.

Coroner W. H. Hinklin was notified and viewed the body at the scene of the accident. He did not procure the names of any of the trainmen. Kenney's death was due to concussion of the brain. The only cut visible on his body was a slight one on the left arm. Blood came from the ears and nose, indicating concussion and cerebral hemorrhage.

The body was taken to the M. H. Gunder & Company's morgue on Blaine avenue, where it was held for a few days before buried in an effort to locate relatives.

Not much is known of the dead man, except that he came to Marion a number of years ago, presumably from Boston. He was a common laborer.

For three weeks he had been working for Molloy near Martel. Saturday, at the dinner table, Worline remarked that he was glad that he was going home that afternoon.

"Well, I wish I could say that," said Kenney. "I ain't got no more home than a rabbit."

Kenney ordinarily was of a jovial disposition, and Worline thinks it is likely that he was singing or whistling when he drove on the crossing.

The horses which Kenney was driving were valued by their owner at $600.

Catholic Ladies.

A well-attended meeting of the Catholic Ladies of Columbia was held in the parochial school building on north Prospect street, Sunday afternoon, and considerable routine business was transacted. The next meeting of the order will be held the third Sunday in October.

TWO MEN ARE HELD UP ON MT. VERNON AVENUE

T. R. Leeper and William E. Latham Are Victims.

STRUCK FROM REAR BY PAIR OF ROBBERS

Police Force Increased To See That Orders of Mayor as to Saloons Are Obeyed—City Prison Is Full of Drunks Saturday Night—Some Police Court News Notes.

T. R. Leeper, who is employed on the farm of Charles Turner east of the city, and William Ellsworth Latham, who has been working north of the city, were the victims of two hold-up men in front of the residence of A. C. Edmondson, of Mt. Vernon avenue, between 11 and 12 o'clock Saturday night.

Latham was enroute home with Leeper and the men were discussing what they would do Sunday. Each of the men carried a corn cutter and a few other packages, the corn cutters being wrapped up. It was dark at the place where the hold-up occurred, the robbers not being seen until they were closely behind the victims. Just as Latham turned he received a blow on the right eye which sent him to the pavement, while Leeper was struck back of the left ear and sent sprawling about ten feet from the walk.

The men were then held down and searched, both being dazed by the blows they received. Leeper was relieved of a ten-dollar bill, but his watch was overlooked. Latham was unable to say just how much money he had, but it was all taken from him The men returned to police headquarters, and Latham went to the office of Dr. E. L. Brady who dressed the eye He had lost considerable blood and the eye was swollen to the size of a large egg. The men stated that the robbery was done so quickly that they were unable to recognize, or secure a description of their assailants. Leeper's hat was found about thirty feet from the spot where the men were assaulted.

James Rice, who was arrested last Wednesday evening, on a charge of stealing a buggy whip from John Carlin, effected a settlement by paying Carlin one dollar, the price of the whip, and the costs in the case.

Joseph Yowell and Richard Hendrickson the two sixteen-year-old boys who ran away from their home in Campbellsville, Kentucky, several weeks ago, and were picked up here, Saturday morning, by Officer Cusick are again roaming the country. After being taken in charge by the officer, the boys were taken to headquarters, where they were told that Edward Hill, an uncle of the Yowell boy, had been here Thursday and Friday in search of them.

The boys stated that they were tired of tramp life and were anxious to return home. Hill was wired at Campbellsville and answered to have the boys remain until he could come after them, but not to lock them up. Chief McDonough provided them with their dinners and they were allowed to go at liberty, but never left headquarters until late in the afternoon. Since then nothing has been seen or heard of them. The uncle of the Yowell boy was to have come after them Monday, but after their disappearance he was wired that they had taken advantage of their privilege and skipped out.

Michael Elias filed an affidavit in the mayor's court Monday morning charging Harry Gibson with making an assault on his brother, George Elias. The trouble started at the place of Elias brothers, on south Main street, Saturday night, and when George Elias ran to police headquarters for an officer, Gibson followed him and struck him at the door of the station. He was arrested and released on bond. Monday morning, Gibson pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was fined five dollars and costs.

MRS. JOHN PRICE DIES MONDAY MORNING

Death Is the Result of Illness of Eight Years.

Mrs. John Price aged sixty-nine years, died at her home at LaRue, at 7 o'clock Monday, after an illness of eight years, death being due to consumption and a complication of diseases. For about two weeks the victim of the dread white plague has been confined to her bed.

The deceased had resided at LaRue about thirty-five years and was very well known. She moved to LaRue from Marysville, and associated herself with the Methodist church, of which she was a member. From a first marriage eight children survive. Following the death of her first husband, Frederick Whitman, she was married to John Price, who, with four children, survives. The funeral was held from the Methodist church at LaRue and interment was made in the LaRue cemetery.

SEVEN PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL

Wife of One Man Held for Chillicothe Jail Delivery.

Chillicothe, O., Sept. 16.—Seven prisoners of the county jail made their escape here early today by sawing the bars of their cells.

Mrs. William Wolfe, wife of one of the escaped prisoners, was arrested this morning, charged with complicity in the escape of the men.

Five white and two colored men, all of whom were charged with burglary, made their escape.

The white men are William Wolfe, Isaac Cheney, William Bradford, James Martain and Howard Merrill, colored, Milton Phillips and John Johnson.

The authorities in all directions have been notified.

WALK HUNDRED MILES TO COMMIT A MURDER

Idaho Couple Give Themselves Up After Shooting Man.

Colifax, Wash., Sept. 16.—Authorities here today are investigating the remarkable story of Wesley Brownwell, twenty-five, and his wife, seventeen, who have confessed, the police say, that they shot and killed A. Neeves, stepfather of the girl.

They walked one hundred miles from their home in Cul de Sac Idaho, to kill Neeves.

According to the girl, her stepfather had mistreated her and had helped others to do so Mrs. Brownwell was masquerading as a man. Both fired shots into Neeves' body They were on their way to give themselves up, when overtaken by the sheriff.

WILL KILL TWO BIRDS WITH BUT ONE STONE

Plan for the Improvement of the Fairground.

EXHIBITION HALL AND GRANDSTAND

Proposition To Be Submitted to the Voters of the County as To Tax for Erecting Two Structures on the Fairground—Both Are Badly Needed—A Joint Meeting Held.

A special levy for the building of an exhibition hall and a grandstand at the fairground will be submitted to Marion county electors at the general election, November 5.

If the proposition carries, the exhibition hall will be so arranged that it may be used by the Marion County Chautauqua association for its assemblies, beginning in 1913.

The special tax levy was unanimously agreed upon by members of the Marion County Agricultural society and the board of county commissioners at a joint meeting held in the office of Secretary Roscoe Oborn, of the agricultural society, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A resolution to submit the proposition to a popular vote was adopted without a dissenting vote. The resolution adopted reads that there shall be levied an amount in excess of one-tenth of a mill and not to exceed one-half of a mill for improvements at the fairground

The Amount Needed.

On a county tax duplicate of $52,000,000 Secretary Oborn says that a levy of half a mill will raise $26,000 to build the grandstand and exhibition hall.

While no plans for the buildings have been definitely discussed and of course will not be unless the proposition is voted upon favorably by the people, it is declared that $26,000 will be sufficient to erect buildings suitable for the needs of the Chautauqua association and for the fair managers.

"The Chautauqua officials are willing to pay a liberal rental for the exhibiton hall," said Secretary Oborn Monday. "We need it badly. Half a mill tax looks big to some people, but just take your pencil and figure it. It's only five cents on every $100 worth of taxable property and certainly the people can stand that small tax for improvements so worthy of their support.

Other Business.

Following the joint meeting of the commissioners and the agricultural society members Saturday, the fair board held a meeting and transacted considerable business.

The bill of W. D. Baker for the carpenter work on the new barn was paid. It amounted to $163. J. J. Woodruff's bill of $72.50 for painting was also paid.

Three bands were employed for the fair, September 24 to 27. The bands are the Marion, the Baker and the Bethlehem.

J. Austin Reed and William Michael were appointed fair marshals, and William McGrath was named as chief of the fairground police.

C. W. Ramer was awarded the contract for furnishing the straw to the various barns during fair week.

YEGGS BLOW SAFE AND MAKE A HAUL

Bank in Michigan Town Relieved of $5,000.

Cadillac, Mich., Sept. 16.—Robbers blew the safe in the Exchange bank at Leroy, near here, with nitroglycerine early this morning, and escaped with $5,000.

The yeggs cut the telephone wires on both sides of the town, and pursuit was handicapped.

You can't always measure a good time by what it cost.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE FRIENDS A SURPRISE

Miss Rentschler and Mr. LeRoy Diehl Wed.

ARE MARRIED AT THE GERMAN M. E. CHURCH

Rev. J. C. Guenther Performs the Ceremony in the Presence of the Congregation — Young People Leave for a Wedding Journey. Will Make Home in the City.

Miss Goldie Priscilla Rentschler and Mr. LeRoy Diehl greatly surprised their friends and acquaintances, Sunday morning, at the German M. E. church, when, about 11 o'clock, just as the choir was singing, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," they marched down the aisle, unattended, and took their places before the altar. Here, in the presence of the congregation, Rev J. C. Guenther, the pastor, performed the ring ceremony, and immediately afterward the bridal party left the church. The altar was prettily decorated with yellow and white flowers. The bride wore a gown of white chiffon cloth over white silk with pearl and Point Venice lace trimmings, and carried a shower prayerbook spray of lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Diehl left at 11:30 o'clock on the Big Four for a two-weeks lake trip. On their return they will reside in a home already furnished on Pleasant street, and will be at home to their friends after October 1.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. J. C Martin, of Cherry street, and a member of the choir of the German M. E. church The groom is a son of Mr and Mrs. J. H Diehl, of Windsor street, and is a machinist employed by the Ohio Tractor company. Both are well-known young people and have many friends in the city.

REV. K. A. ROTH WILL FILL LOCAL PULPIT

Called to Salem Evangelical Church for a Term.

Rev K. A Roth has been extended and has accepted a call to fill the pulpit of the Salem Evangelical church during the absence of the regular pastor, Rev. C. J. Keppel, who was granted a leave of absence for one year. Rev. Mr. Roth has been substituting at the church in Mansfield and comes to Marion highly recommended. He is a young married man and will be accompanied here by his wife. Rev Mr Roth will begin his duties as the local pastor, the first Sunday in October and continue to August 1, 1913.

A NEW PIPE ORGAN FOR ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Subscriptions Are Being Taken To Secure Instrument.

The parish of St. Paul's Episcopal church is contemplating the installation of a fine new pipe organ. Mr. Stevens, who represents the Stevens Organ company, was in the city last week in the interest of his company, and in all probability an organ of that make will be installed. The new organ will be one of the latest models and according to size, will be one of the finest in the city. It is expected to cost about $2,000 and subscriptions to raise this amount are now being taken.

CHARLES HARRAMAN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Death Is the Result of Hemorrhage of the Lungs.

EATS HEARTY DINNER AND DIES SOON AFTER

Mr. Harraman Is a Sufferer of Tuberculosis—The Deceased Is a Resident of Marion County All His Life—Is County Recorder at One Time—Funeral Arrangements.

Charles Harraman, Democratic recorder of Marion county from 1885 to 1891, died from hemorrhage of the lungs at his home, No. 423 Cherry street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He had eaten a hearty dinner and remarked that he was feeling better than he had felt for some time. However, he had been in poor health during the past six months, and his sudden death came as no great surprise to those who knew his condition.

The fatal hemorrhage was due to tuberculosis.

The deceased was born in Big Island township, December 23, 1846, and had always lived in Marion county. He was a son of James and Abigail Harraman.

November 25, 1863, Mr. Harraman was married to Miss Caroline E. Robinson, who with one daughter, Leona Harraman, survives. Three children are dead.

Of late years Mr. Harraman had followed the occupation of carpenter and bookkeeper. He was well known throughout the county.

Mr. Harraman was a member of Pine Lake Outing club, formerly the Tenderleg club, members of which officiated as pallbearers at the funeral.

MRS. JAMES L. SNYDER SEEKS DIVORCE DECREE

Charges Husband With Treating Her Brutally.

PLAINTIFF WANTS THE CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

Mrs. Walter D. Blair Is Granted a Divorce by Judge William E. Scofield, Tuesday—She Charges Desertion—Answer in Gorenflo Divorce Matter—Court Items.

Alleging that her husband, James Lewis Snyder, known as "Doodle" Snyder, choked and beat her most brutally, Anna Snyder, through Attorneys Louis E Myers, brought an action for a divorce in the court of common Pleas, Tuesday afternoon.

Judge W. E. Scofield granted a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff in their home, No 126 Breen street, or in attempting to gain possession of the children and of the household goods. The wife claims that her husband is brutal and violent when in his cups and that she is in danger of her life.

The Snyders were married in this city, November 6, 1897, and have three children, the youngest of whom is five years old.

Tuesday morning, Judge William E. Scofield granted Effie May Blair a decree of divorce from Walter D Blair and restored her to her maiden name of Fannin. She was represented by Attorney Louis E. Myers. The defendant did not appear.

The plaintiff testified that she was married to the defendant, December 26, 1906, and alleged that he deserted her in December, 1911. She filed her petition for a divorce, July 26, and the defendant filed an answer, setting up a general denial, August 31. He was then a resident of Lawrence county.

In the divorce suit of Leona M. Gorenflo against Julius C. Gorenflo, the defendant, through Crissinger & Guthery, Tuesday filed an answer setting up a general denial of his wife's allegations He asks that her petition be dismissed.

Ray S. Hill, defendant in an action for allmony brought by Edith B. Hill, the defendant, through Crissinger & Guthery, Tuesday filed an answer and cross-petition. He admits that he took the plaintiff to his parents' home after their marriage and that they have since resided there because of the burning down of a house he had rented. He denies generally all other allegations and asks for a decree of divorce on the ground of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. The husband says the wife threw a heavy iron wrench at him and "cursed and abused him." He also says she is insanely jealous.

In the case of Simeon B. Rice against the board of county commissioners, the county surveyor and Frank I. Jackson, the defendants have filed an amended answer, which asks that the temporary injunction enjoining them from entering upon Rice's land to construct a ditch be dissolved and that the petition be dismissed. This suit was started September 13, 1909.

Monday afternoon, in the hearing on a matter of paying interest on money held by the Marion National Bank as a result of suits growing out of the municipal garbage and sewage disposal plant, Judge William F. Duncan, of Findlay, directed County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter to withdraw the sum of $2,700 involved. He was ordered to place the amount on interest in the Citizens' Savings & Loan company until the further order of the court.

Judge Duncan announced that the order was made without prejudice to the rights of the defendants, the City of Marion, and others, to recover interest on the amount, or any part of it, from the Marion National bank, dating from March 17, 1906.

The money involved has been decreed to belong to the defunct Clinton Foundry & Machine company, of Nazareth, Pennsylvania, and Monday's hearing was to determine whether the Marion National bank should pay interest on the money during the time it was deposited there. Attorneys Fred E Guthery, representing the Pennsylvania company, and Attorney E. B Durfee, counsel for the bank, engaged in a lively dispute. Judge Duncan told them to agree on a statement of facts and then come to him and he would make final disposition of the money.

The divorce suit of Darley D DeTurk against John D. DeTurk, was heard by Scofield, Tuesday The wife, who caused the plaintiff's arrest some time ago on an arson charge, contested her husband's action. The court announced that he wanted to hear further testimony, as he was not satisfied with the evidence presented. He continued the case.

The divorce suit of George F. Businger against Cora L. Businger, was dismissed by Judge Scofield last Tuesday. Attorneys announced that the plaintiff and defendant were again living together.

Because the attorneys representing the plaintiff neglected to state that the plaintiff was the owner of real property, Judge Scofield this morning, on the motion of Mouser & Moloney, dismissed the injunction suit of Effie E. Leach against the Village of Green Camp, an action to prevent the construction of certain sidewalks. The suit will be restarted and the legal point, to the effect that the plaintiff is the owner of real property, set up.

In the injunction matter of William P. Murphy against Gus Kohbarger, the defendant has been given leave to answer instanter.

HUNGRY MULTITUDE.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for September 22 is, "The Feeding of the 5,000." Mark 6:30-44.

The person who thinks that the office of religion is confined to the preaching of "the simple gospel" will have to cut out of his Bible the story of the feeding of the 5,000. He had like-minded prototypes in the first company of Jesus' friends. They wanted to send the hungry horde away to shift for temselves. Not so with the Master Himself. He never did confine himself to preaching a "simple gospel." He cared for men's bodies as well as for their souls. Much of His ministry was in response to physical need. When He came upon an economic problem He met it.

The truth cannot be escaped, as we study his miracle, the only one that was reported in all four gospels, a token of its unique importance, that the mission of the church is to all men and to all of men. The economic conditions of our time, the living wage for every worker, the purity of the food which the people eat, playgrounds for city children, the improvement of present social conditions—all these, and a score of allied problems, are within the sweep of the church's ministry. They are the inescapable tasks of the twentieth century Christianity.

The Curious Crowd.

Much is said about the busyness of a city, but it is noticeable that whenever any accident out of the ordinary occurs, be it the digging of a foundation for a new building, the plight of a cat up a telegraph pole, or the breaking down of an automobile, the crowds seem to have ample time for the spectacle. Let a great man come to town, and behold the multitude that throngs him! The questing of these multitudes in Galilee for Christ is eloquent with the eternal lesson of the need for more and worthier life interests in the average breast. Half the evil of our time is not the result of premeditated viciousness, but a consequence of the eagerness of life that fills the new knowledge, for fresh interests, for excitement and diversion. It is the emptiness of life that fills the newspapers with scandal. We can scarcely too often quote the words of Tennyson,

"'Tis life whereof our nerve is scant,
Oh, life, not death, for which we pant,
More life and fuller that we want."

A Lakeside Conference.

The gathering of Christian workers by lake or sea for rest and conference is no new thing, even though we remark it as one of the characteristics of the religious life of our time. We find Jesus and His disciples driven by many cares and longing for leisure, so that at last they take ship and go to the other side of the northern end of the Lake of Galilee, that they might rest and receive instruction.

The bow that is never relaxed loses its power. The life that if kept forever under the pressure of work is not the most efficient in work. Our times, with their agitation for shorter hours and more rest days, are perceiving the wisdom of the interlude, which we here find written in the old story.

Yet there are higher claims than those of personal rest. The multitudes which sought the Master had needs which took precedence of His own Every great soul is ready to spend itself in human service Jesus looked upon the multitudes He saw them as sheep having no shepherd, and had compassion on them. The sanctity of His vacation yielded to the greater sanctity of humanity's needs

An Old Economic Problem.

The thoughtless, careless crowd, bent only on one object at a time, had forgotten to provide for its next meal in its pursuit of Jesus It had been so engrossed with His teaching that it had given no heed to the claims of the body So Jesus, as the dominant spirit of the situation, and in lesser degree His anxious apostles were confronted by the fact that here was a crowd of 5,000 persons with nothing to eat. The careful business man in the company had figured out that it would take $33 worth of bread to satisfy that hungry host—and $33 was more than the pooled resources of the Christian church at that time could afford. The sum seemed small for such a large provision, but it was only bread that the people wanted—the large flat loaves such as are still eaten in the Holy Land today, and may be bought two for a cent.

The selfish, easy way out of the predicament was pointed out by some of the apostles, send the hungry hordes away, let their plight be upon their own heads; we wash our hands of them; their hunger is their own fault; they are too shiftless to look out for themselves, and therefore they deserve to suffer. The arguments sound familiar, do they not? But they were not such as Jesus heeded.

The Small Boy's Part.

A study of this miracle from the angle of the small boy who figures prominently in it appeals to the imagination. He was only a boy, a venturesome, restless, high-spirited lad, eager for excitement, and more interested in great things than his elders imagined. He was but one of the ubiquitous boys who always appear on the scene when there is excitement afoot.

This lad's thoughtful mother had put up for him a lunch We have an insight into his character from the simple fact that he had been too engrossed in the teaching of Jesus to think of his food—and when a boy is so interested in anything that he forgets to eat, his interest may be counted real indeed

The end of the day found this lad still in possession of his forgotten lunch, and thus Andrew, who had a genius for getting close to people, found him and brought him to the Master's attention. Surely Andrew had no thought of a miracle. The closest to a miracle he saw in the occasion was the fact that amid all these hungry people it was a boy who had saved his food That what was a meal for a small boy should become a feast for a multitude was beyond his wildest imagining.

An Al Fresco Banquet.

The homely old lesson that life's littles may be made much when given into the hands of Christ was taught by Jesus when He took the five loaves and the two wee fishes that the boy gladly contributed, and prepared to serve the 5,000. He disposed the company in ordered array upon the hillside There was a dignity and seemliness about the arrangements that impressed the simple folk with the idea that something extraordinay was about to happen.

Then the food was distributed by the apostles. When and how and where the five loaves and the two small fishes multiplied, we know not. The story is told without any embellishments. The rare simplicity of the narrative gives grandeur. We only know that the food that was meant for one sufficed for 5,000 with twelve wallets full left over, and gathered up that there might be no waste.

WILLIAM J. GEER SEEKS COMMON PLEAS BENCH

Is Only Republican on Judicial Ticket

IN MARION, WYANDOT, CRAWFORD DISTRICT

Geer Submits His Record as a Lawyer for More Than Twenty-Five Years at Galion, and Holds Himself Aloof from the Contest Between Babst and Meck.

The contest for the common pleas judgeship in this district—Crawford, Wyandot and Marion—is growing in interest daily. It is to be one of the real contests of the campaign, though it is necessarily separate and independent of any partisan campaign.

The Star has a letter from Attorney William J. Geer, of Galion, announcing his candidacy for the bench. We quote from Mr Geer's letter:

Editor Star:—I wish to announce through your paper that I am a candidate for judge of the court of common pleas for the second subdivision of the 10th judicial district of Ohio, comprising Marion, Wyandot and Crawford counties, the other candidates for said office being the present incumbent, Judge Babst of Crestline, and Benjamin Meck, of Bucyrus.

"In connection with the presentation of my name for the consideration of the voters of this district it is but right to say that I am now and have always been a Republican, and I can not and will not change my political complexion even for the purpose of gaining votes or procuring this honorable position.

"I am in no way interested or concerned in the Meck-Babst controversy, and I will say further that I am not going to be concerned in their differences Whatever personal or political differences they may have is no concern of mine Whatever I shall do in this campaign I trust will be clean, fair and becoming of a person seeking this high position."

Mr Geer is a resident of Galion where he has successfully practiced law for more than twenty-five years, and has served several terms as mayor of the city He ranks well in his profession and enjoys great personal popularity.

The judgeship fight is necessarily one of personality, because the candidates' names appear on a separate ticket, without party designation Judge Babst is the Democratic nominee, Mr Meck is a democrat, running independently, and Mr Geer is a Republican, nominated by petition.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM READERS OF THE STAR

More About Tymochtee.

In reply to C. F Ritter, who wrote on the subject of the proposed Tymochtee improvement in the Star recently, I would quote Mr. Ritter. He says:

"We are now experiencing an attempt to throw dust in the eyes of our farming community, as well as others, by advocating an east and west cut-off, instead of improving Tymochtee creek in a manner that will solve our troubles for all time to come. So old nature comes to the rescue, and demonstrates clearly, just where she wants to pour her surplus water."

Well, let us hastily scan a few of the facts, and see if old nature is as arbitrary as Mr. Ritter. Let us see if we can't save thousands of dollars to the farmers of both counties, and thousands of dollars damage along Tymochtee creek.

Several years ago when Mr. John Hane was one of the county commissioners of this county, there was a petition by Wyandot county citizens, praying for a ditch down into Marion county, to empty into Tymochtee creek, and known as the Amerine-Racey ditch. After careful investigation by the commissioners, and the report of Engineer Cuningham—unfavorable—they refused to grant the ditch. After a few years, when a newly-elected board of commissioners had been installed, a new petition was presented and granted. This ditch necessitated a deep cut to get over into Marion county, some eight hundred feet long and from seven to eleven and a half feet in depth, and gradually growing more shallow, as it receeded back into Wyandot county, to three and a half feet deep, making a slow, sluggish ditch. This ditch not being satisfactory, Mr. Thomas Wogan, some three years ago, petitioned for a ditch over the east and west route, that Ritter alludes to, said petition asking for a ditch commencing where the Ritter petition does, and following the same course, to where the Milum ditch, No. 1, intersects with said Amerine-Racey ditch on the section line, running straight west to Tymochtee creek. Here is where the east and west new ditch begins. The report of the engineer gave twenty-eight feet fall from the head of the ditch to the outlet in Tymochtee creek, a distance of five miles, and a fall of over five feet to the mile.

The Wyandott County commissioners granted the ditch, and when the interested parties learned the cost of the ditch, they came into the next ditch hearing, with the plea that the banks could not hold up the excavated dirt, thus crushing the banks down into the ditch and filling it up again.

The matter was dropped here at this hearing, but they finally come out and said they would take it around through Marion county, and make Marion county farmers help them to ditch their land. Shortly after this Mr. Ritter came out with a petition down the old route into Marion county again. This petition was rejected for want of fall. Later Ritter comes again with another petition, this time to dredge Tymochtee. Then comes the dispute over the Wogen route, or what is known as the short cut, concerning fall. At the following ditch hearing, to ascertain the correctness of former reports, the commissioners of the two counties sent their engineers together to ascertain the fall. They gave them several weeks to perform their labors, and in the meantime the remonstrators employed a competent engineer and went over the short cut, and he found a fall of twenty-five and a half feet, from the top of the ground at the head of he ditch, to the top of the ground, on the banks of Tymochtee creek, the outlet, and thirteen feet down into the creek bottom. The length of the ditch was about five miles.

Now comes the report of the ditch hearing of the two engineers, of Marion and Wyandot counties, Mr. Dwyer, and Mr. Foust. They find the ditch to be about five miles long They find twenty-three and a half feet fall. They find that in this route, there is only one and two-third miles of new ditch to be made. That to make the new part of it, will cos $7,250, from where it leaves the new part, to the head of ditch, will cost $3,500; to enlarge the old part from where it leaves the new part to Tymochtee creek, $4,000 Thus it will be seen that $15,000 will make the short-cut, while a statement of cost in Monday's Star was to the effect that it will cost $75,000 to dredge a part of the long route, a distance of thirteen miles.

But again the engineer of Wyandot county told me himself, that he found thirty-seven feet fall on this short cut Now if I were to add the thirteen feet that the remonstrators' engineer reports from the top of the banks down to the creek bed, you will readily see that the two surveyors are not far apart. So with all the surveys I have mentioned, they all have found a fall, of near or about five feet to the mile, the most fall beginning in the middle and continuing to the outlet, just where it will draw the water to the best advantage and I sincerely believe that a fall of twenty-five feet in a five mile ditch, far surpasses a fall of twenty-five feet in a thirteen mile ditch I sincerely believe that an item of $60,000, can and ought to be saved to the taxpayers of Marion county, in the face of such a splendid outlet awaiting the citizens of Wyandot county, that will be drained by it. So that the dust that has been blown into the eyes of the farmers, has been stirred by the wind of the petitioner. So can old nature's surplus water be emptied ten miles further down Tymochtee creek, by the short-cut route. Mr. Ritter refers to some good business men, whose opinions should be recognized. He says: "And who, think the county would be greatly benefited by the said improvement." He refers to some men of wealth to influence officials to tax unfairly a community that not one in a hundred is willing to have put upon them.

These men who are opposed to dredging Tymochtee, are for home and fireside first, and an equal chance in the race of life. We ask no more. We will take no less. But Mr. Ritter thinks that every man, who signed the remonstrance is a prevaricator, as was shown at the ditch hearing, the 9th. Every statement made by the remonstrators, as to conditions along said route, was sneered at and looked upon as false. Mr. Ritter also says that many of those who signed the remonstrance were sorry they did it.

I can take the remontrance paper and go out now, and add another hundred names in a mighty short time, which could have been had, had we had the time.

Mr. Ritter also doubts a statement in an article written by one of the farmers on Tymochtee creek, with regord to stone in the creek, and doubts if he knows what it would cost to remove a cubic yard of stone, and calls them wild statements.

It surprises me that old residents, born and raised here, and who have lived here all their lives, whose statements are from personal knowledge, should be questioned by a newcomer from some other state.

Mr. Ritter also refers to the cost of making this ditch, which has been greatly exaggerated, such as $100,000 and various other sums. And he says the ditch is two-thirds dug to begin with, which he says is laughable.

Very good; let us see. The Daily Star's article says $75,000, and Mr. Dwyer says $100,000, although one-half of the ditch is already dug. Has there been exaggeration from this source? Then he says he attended some ditch sales in Arkansas, the main canal eighteen mile long, twenty to thirty-five feet wide, lowest depth twelve feet, one lateral eight miles long, ten to fourteen feet wide, three to eight feet deep, through heavy clearing, and the total cost was $65,000, and dug from the top of the ground while the estimate on our ditch, two-thirds dug, he says is $75,000 and only thirteen miles long.

Mr. Ritter is going to expose his ignorance, if he slops over much more as he has in this last article.

Mr. Ritter also refers to the Little Scioto, as to what dredging was done there, which amply proves it—this wet summer, he says. We admit it ought to, and has done good, but when all the big ditches and streams are full at the same time in the country Scioto will overflow just as any and all streams do after heavy rains.

"The rains this summer have gone in streaks, only a few big ditches were full at the same time. We had the heaviest rain here in our immediate neighborhood that I ever witnessed, lasting three hours. The Thompson ditch was rained full and out of banks, while Prairie run ditch, south one and three-fourths miles, only half full, and the heavy part of the rain did not reach three miles north, and when I reached the Scioto the next morning on my way to Marion, Scioto had only about three or four feet of water in it. So, I say, while the summer has been wet, the big ditches have not all been full at the same time, on account of rains going here and there.

Now Mr. Ritter crosses the ocean, and he finds that we are fifty years behind the European nations Fifty years isn't very far behind, when we find the English nation is 1,000 years older than we are, and all the rest of the nations with their hundreds of years in the lead, so far as age is concerned. Fifty years behind, and we have more miles of railroads than all the European nations put together. Fifty years behind, with a coast-trade as great as all Europe, and we only in our swaddling clothes. Well, if Mr. Ritter will only move out of that miserable swamp to where better conditions exist, he will find that his own native land, carries the intellectual torch of the world, besides doing the business of the world. So he closes his article by saying, if there were an attempt to build a road to heaven, there would be remonstrators. I don't doubt it in the least, if he were permitted a resting place there, and I believe I voice the sentiment of the remonstrators, when I say, they would prefer hell, rather than be in heaven with him, for if there was a valley where joy overflowed, he would petition to have it dredged out, thereby keeping up a constant commotion.

Worry About the Farmer.

Editor Star:—The so-called wise heads, politicians, professional and auto people are straining every nerve to persuade the farmer that the country people are loosing vast sums of money through waste of produce in not being able to get it to market on account of bad wagon roads. How is a farmer going to manage a farm without teams and wagons. He has them on hand before he commences farming The figures are altogether too high for the automobile riding public to ever think of convincing farmers that there are a syllable of truth in it. It is a perfect fabrication from beginning to end, and the end they have in view is to pave the highways of this state for auto speeding. Who will come up and dispute it? The farmer loses nothing of his produce only by weather conditions. When a man can haul a load of grain sheaves out of his field he can haul it when he gets to the highway. In all places where I have lived at threshing time farmers exchange work in hauling away the grain or to the grainerie as well and it doesn't cost any one a penny.

Farmers are not all fools all the time, if they are bound hand and foot. They know what this $50,000,00 bond business means to the tax-payers. Taxes are already a burden to farmers and tax-payers in general, excepting high salaried men and agricultural students. What are you going to do with an army of them? If any of them come here they will get a warm reception It is enough to pay tax to help keep up these institutions we have. Farm papers come to the house every week and can and do get experiment station literature just for the asking. So can every other man in the state, though most probably many of them do not know it.

What is the mission of our newspapers if isn't to help to support it, if it is not to advertise the benefits that are in store for mankind. We surely read enough about this so called wagon road for the benefit of the farmer and we read so much of it that it makes us tired. Put out the high-salaried men. Let them go plow corn. We all believe in the back-to-the-farm movement. Cut down the taxes and we will hustle our selves to raise more corn, beef and pork. The farmer should be let alone. He can take care of himself if he can feed the masses.

JOSEPH MURPHY'S BODY REACHES CITY

Victim of Deadly Sewer Gas at Circleville Monday.

UNFORTUNATE MAN MEETS DEATH IN SEWER

Two Employes Go to His Rescue. Both Are Overcome, but One Is Revived—The Other Dies in His Attempt To Save Murphy—Local Friends Shocked by Accident.

The body of Joseph Murphy, the well-known sewer contractor who was asphyxiated by sewer gas at Circleville, Monday afternoon, arrived in this city Tuesday and was removed to the Murphy home, No. 324 Waterloo street. Marion relatives did not learn of his death until late Monday afternoon, when a telegram giving meagre details, was received by William Murphy, a brother.

A companion of the Marion man also met death at the same time. He was Charles Thomas, of Circleville, who was employed by Murphy. He sacrificed his life in a heroic attempt to rescue his employer. He was thirty-seven years oldd, and Murphy was forty-five years old.

Howard Kelly, of Circleville, was overcome in trying to go to Murphy's rescue, but was rescued and revived.

The accident occurred on the Scioto street improvement at Circleville shortly after the men had gone to work after eating dinner. Murphy went down into the manhole of the sewer to remove the bulkhead. He was overpowered by the rush of the deadly sewer gas, and Thomas and Kelley went to his rescue. Kelly was pulled out of the manhole unconscious and was later revived, but Thomas was suffocated before he could be rescued.

Mr. Muurphy is survived by a widow and two daughters, Misses Doris and Ruth Murphy. He was the senior member of the firm of Murphy & Kohbarger, and was widely known throughout the city and county

AN INVITATION TO UNITED CONFERENCE

Delaware Wishes To Make First Gathering Notable.

At the fourth quarterly conference of the William Street M. E. church, of Delaware, Monday evening, a suggestion was made that the first session of the United Central and Cincinnati conferences, which, if the two conferences unite will be held a year from this fall, be invited to William Street church, the sessions to be held in Gray chapel. The question will be taken up for final consideration at a meeting to be held at that place, Friday evening. Over 500 ministers will be in the new conference and the Methodists of Delaware wish to make this a notable event in the history of that city.

District Superintendent William McBrackney presided over the conference, this being his final service in this connection, and Professor Fulton read a very appropriate tribute to his work in the district and in that church.

WOMEN CONDUCTORS IN PHILADELPHIA

Street Railway Company Making a Novel Experiment.

Philadephia, Sept. 18.—The street railroad company here is experimenting with woman conductors on its new pay-enter cars. On the new cars the conductor is merely a cashier. She sits behind a desk, receives the fare, makes change and records the receipts.

RICHWOOD MEN AT C., M., S. & N. MEETING

Officers of the Company Elected for Next Year.

A BIG REUNION IS HELD AT MAPLE DELL

A Human Skeleton and Other Human Bones Are Found in a Gravel Pit Near Richwood—Much Conjecture as to the Find—Some Richwood News Items.

Richwood, O., Sept 19.—[Special.]—A special car on the C. M. S. & N. traction line carried the stockholders of the road to Delaware, from Richwood, Monday morning, to attend the annual business meeting of the line, held in the Y. M. C. A. building at Delaware. The officers and stockholders numbered sixty and a profitable meeting was held. William M. Galbreath was re-elected president. Christopher Magee, Jr., was re-elected vice-president and Charles J. Fifer was re-elected secretary and general manager. Reports showed that the passenger and freight traffic had been heavier during the past year than ever before. The matter of disposing of the line to companies interested in the lake to river traction system did not come up at the meeting Monday.

Robert Graham has enrolled as a student in the Ohio Wesleyan university, at Delaware.

The former residents of West Virginia and Pennsylvania, now residing in or near Richwood assembled at Maple Dell, Saturday, for their third annual reunion. In spite of the inclement weather, it having rained early in the morning, the reunion was very well attended. At the noon hour a fine picinc dinner was served by the ladies and the afternoon was spent socially. A business session was held, but the rain interfered with the rendition of the interesting program which had been prepared. The following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year: President, John Coen; vice president, A. L. Tennant; secretary, John Russell; treasurer, Josephine Thomas. The following committee was appointed to transact business and to arrange the time and place for the next reunion. Luther Lemasters, Radnor; A. L. Tennant and C. L. Eddy, Richwood; Mrs. Nettie Campbell, Marysville; W. Sprange, Jerome; Mrs. J. D. Russell, Radnor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Decker spent a few days with relatives in St. Paris, during the past week.

Mrs. Earl Slemmons and little daughter, Thelma, of Detroit, have been the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Penney, during the past week.

Miss Mildred Horn has gone to Columbus to resume her studies in the Ohio State university.

During the past week an entire human skeleton and many human bones have been unearthed on the farm of Joseph Kinnikin, four miles west of Richwood. The bones were found in a gravel pit. Several skulls were found, one of which contained the full set of teeth. The skeleton was found about two feet from the surface, the body having been buried in an almost upright position. No relics of any kind have been found which would give a clue as to what race the bones belonged. Many are of the opinion that the spot was an old Indian burying ground.

I. D. Smith, a Columbus tailor, was a business visitor in Richwood, Monday. He also visited his mother, Mrs. S. E. Smith, who is recovering from a recent illness.

Mrs. Martha Tonguet, of Findlay, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. D. Tracy, of south Fulton street, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Glick and son, Milford, left, Tuesday, for the East. Mr. Glick and his wife will visit in New York, Boston and other cities and their son will enter Harvard college, at Cambridge.

O. S. McNeil, of Columbus, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Fisher and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver and children, of Magnetic Springs, were the guests, Sunday, of Mr. Weaver's sister, Mrs. C. H. Rose.

Miss Anna Kenefick of Mansfield, was the guest, Sunday and Monday, of Mrs. B. T. Sloop and family.

Mrs. Charles Shipley arrived home, Sunday, from Chicago, where she spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zachman, of Marion, spent Thursday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kirk, west of Richwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vestal are visiting their daughter, Mrs. P. R. Rausch, and family, of Leetonia.

Mrs. A. R. Klipstine arrived here, Saturday, from Versailles, where she spent several weeks, visiting her parents.

A very enjoyable reunion was held Saturday, by the Hartley and De Witt families, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartley, two miles southwest of Richwood. Sixty persons were present and a fine dinner was served by the ladies at the noon hour. Following the dinner the afternoon was spent socially. Rev. E. C. Wood worth of Essex, gave a talk and a business session followed, the following corps of officers being elected: president, I. N. Evans; secretary, Orla Green; treasurer, Elbert Hartley. It was decided to hold a reunion next year, the last Saturday in August, at the Hartley home. The relatives present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miles, of Sidney; Mrs. Elizabeth Frederick, Miss Marie Frederick and Mr. Aaron Durnell, of North Lewisburg.

John Ogan has purchased the Evan T. Jones property on east Blagrove street. Besides the dwelling there are five acres of ground.

Mrs. G. W. Worden and Mrs. Louie Tennery went to DeGraff, Friday, to spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Irwin.

A number of the aged residents of Richwood have been quite ill, during the past week, among them are Mrs. Nancy Winter, Mrs. W. A. Hall and Mrs. Rachel Inskeep.

Miss Kathryn Speyer left, Monday for Delaware, where she is enrolled as a student in the Ohio Wesleyan university.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frantz, of Salt Lake City, Utah, were the guests, Saturday, of the former's sister, Miss H. A. Frantz. They have been visiting Mr. Frantz's parents, in Delaware, where a very pleasant family reunion was held, last week.

Miss Georgeana Peet, who spent the past summer studying at Brenaw college, in Gainsville, Georgia, has accepted a position as instructor in French in that institution, during the coming winter.

Mrs. E. H. Miller left, Wednesday, for Chicago, where she will visit her three sons before leaving for Winona, Illinois, to spend some time with relatives. Mrs. Miller leaves Richwood to make her future home with her children in Chicago and Omaha.

Miss Edna Colver arrived home, Tuesday, from Dayton, where she spent two weeks visiting friends.

Mrs. Verna Campbell was a business visitor in Columbus, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Biddle, of Marion, are visiting the former's father, George Biddle, of east Bomford street.

Roy Griffith spent Sunday with friends in Delaware.

Miss Ethel Cheney, of Delaware, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Kittie C. Cheney.

Nineteen of the young friends of Miss Donna Harrison gave her a pleasant surprise, Monday, in honor of her tenth birthday anniversary. The affair was held at her home on east Blagrove street. The guests were pupils from the fifth grade in the public schools and they had a merry time playing games. Nice refreshments were served and later in the evening ice cream and cake was passed among the guests. Miss Harrison received a number of pretty birthday gifts.

Rev. Albert Gullege resigned his position as pastor of the First Christian church, Sunday morning, at the close of the regular service. He resigned very reluctantly and with great reluctance his congregation agreed to dispense with his services, the minister having done good work here. Rev. Mr. Gullege will leave here November 10, when his resignation will take effect, for Canton, where he will enter the Phillips Bible school, for a course of study.

Harry E. Bell, of Battle Creek, Michigan, a former resident of La Rue, has been visiting E. H. Temple, N. M. Temple and other relatives near Richwood, during the past week. He made the trip through Ohio in an automobile.

OPEN-AIR SCHOOLS SHOW RAPID GROWTH

An Increase from One to 200 in Past Five Years.

With the opening of the fall school term, over 200 open-air schools and fresh-air classes for tuberculous, and anaemic children, and also for all children in certain rooms and grades, will be in operation in various parts of the United States, according to a statement published today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

All of these schools, the association says, have been established since January, 1907, when the first institution of this character was opened in Providence, Rhode Island. On January 1, 1910, there were only thirteen open-air schools in this country and a year later the number had increased only to twenty-nine. Thus, the real growth in this movement has been with the last two years.

Massachusetts now leads the states with eighty-six fresh-air schools and classes for tuberculous, anaemic and other school children, Boston alone having over eighty. New York comes next with twenty-nine, and Ohio is third with twenty-one. Open-air schools have now been established in nearly fifty cities in nineteen different states.

Based on figures of population and mortality furnished by the United States bureau of the census, it is estimated that not less than 100,000 children now in school in the United States will die of tuberculosis before they are eighteen years of age, or that about 7,000 of these children die annually from this one disease. Estimating that on an average each child who dies from tuberculsis has had six years of schooling, the aggregate loss to this country in wasted education each year amounts to well over $1,000,000.

This loss and much of the incident suffering could be materially decreased if open-air schools or classes for these children and those who are sickly and anaemic were provided. The national association estimates that there should be one such school for every 25,000 population, especially in cities.

CITY IN BRIEF.

Two Big Farm Sales.—The brothers of Bauer & Klinefelter made two large farm sales last Saturday. The farms brought $35,500 cash, an average of $155 per acre. One farm contained seventy-eight acres and the other 100 acres.

Reach Home.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schaffner and son, Wilfred, arrived home, Monday evening, from Bay City, Michigan. Young Schaffner, who was accidentally shot by a companion while in camp near Oscoda, Michigan, about six weeks ago, and who has been confined in a ho-pital in Bay City since that time, is getting along very well, and his complete recovery is assured.

Who Will Care To Miss It?

This has been an exceptional year for agriculture and this will be reflected in the exhibits at the Marion county Fair next week. The entrylists are filled and there promises to be the most remarkable exhibits of the products of orchard, field and garden, of live stock and poultry, that the county has ever known, September 24th to 27th. 273-2-wky 1-c

A son was born, Tuesday afternoon, to Mr. and Mrs. Alva E. Seneff at the Marion City hospital. Mr. Seneff formerly played on the Marion baseball team.

DR. W. L. DAVIDSON DIES IN CLEVELAND

Death Is the Result of a Stroke of Apoplexy.

CHAUTAUQUA MANAGER DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Announcement of Death Brings Sorrow to Hundreds of Friends in Marion and Marion County—Is One of the Best-Known Chautauqua Managers in Country.

Dr Wilbur L. Davidson, platform manager for Marion's past Chautauqua assemblies, died of appoplexy at his home, No. 1520 east 115th street, Cleveland, Tuesday morning.

News of his death was not received until Thursday, when J. B. Virden, of the Marion County Chautauqua association, received a letter telling of his death. The news of Dr Davidson's death will be learned with much regret by the hundreds of friends, who learned to know and to love him during the time he was platform manager for Marion's Chautauqua assemblies.

Dr. Davidson was a native of Woodsfield, Monroe county, and was fifty-eight years old. He was a graduate of the American university in Washington. At the time of his death he was employed as manager of the National Chautauqua bureau, and thirty years ago was pastor of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church in Cleveland. He was widely known throughout the country.

This year's Chautauqua program contained the following tribute to Dr Davidson.

"He returns again as superintendent of instruction, and has a large share of the building of the program. His bright winsome, persuasive personality as platform manager for the past two years has won for him the friendship of everybody, and all insist on his return. He knows more about Chautauqua work than any man in America and his platform act and management make him invaluable for the position which he holds. All feel safe when his hand is on the helm, and no man who comes again to the Chautauqua will receive a more royal welcome than Dr. W. L. Davidson, whom everybody loves."

The funeral services were held at the Davidson home in Cleveland, Friday afternoon.

FRIENDS SEARCHING FOR SAMUEL EROW

Victim of Accident Disappears Very Suddenly.

Samuel Erow, of near Fredericktown, formerly of this county, a son of Jacob Erow, of Mt. Gilead, disappeared from his home at 10 o'clock, last Friday morning. So far his friends and family have failed to locate him.

Last spring Erow, who is a farm hand, was injured when a silo door fell, striking his head. Since the accident he has suffered pains in his head and it is thought that the accident has affected his mind.

Erow was at the Blackburn home, a short distance from his home, about 10 o'clock Friday morning, and talked to various members of the family. They noticed nothing wrong with him.

When he left the Blackburn home, Erow walked towards Mt. Vernon for a short distance, when he was overtaken by an automobile, the driver of which stopped and asked him to ride.

When he left home, Erow was dressed in his working clothes. He wore blue overalls and a hickory shirt. He had no money as far as is known.

LELAND FARLEY SHOT BY CLAUDE JONES

The First Accident of Squirrel Hunting Season.

VICTIM STRUCK BY LOAD OF NO. 5 SHOT

Shotgun Is Discharged at a Distance of Fifteen Feet from the Victim. Young Man Is Given Surgical Attention at His Home—No Serious Results Expected.

Leland Farley, the seventeen-year old son of Mr. ad Mrs. H. H. Farley, of Olney avenue, was accidentally shot while squirrel hunting Thursday morning, by Claude Jones, a companion about twenty years of age. Young Jones is a son of Mrs. Harry Palmer, of the Olean flats on west Center street.

The boys were returning home about 11 o'clock, and when near the Sawyer White Oaks farm on the Green Camp pike, stopped to unload their guns. The Janes boy was extracting the shell when the gun was accidentally discharged, the contents entering the back of young Farley's legs from the hips to the ankles. The Farley boy was standing about fifteen feet from his companion and was struck by a load of No 5 shot.

The injured lad, not wishing to frighten his mother, with the assistance of the Jones boy extracted most of the shot and then started home on foot. As soon as they arrived at the Farley home a surgeon was summoned and the young man was chloroformed, but no shot could be found. The surgeon states that if there is any shot remaining it is deeply imbedded and will possibly work out, but that the injured boy is not in a serious condition.

M'NEIL MAKES WILL AND HANGS HIMSELF

Leaves His Estate to Widow During Her Life.

By the will of Samuel A. McNeil, late of Richwood, deceased, his entire estate, which consists largely of bank and electric light stock, also a residence property at Richwood, is given to his widow, Hester McNeil, to use as her needs may require, and if, at her death, there is anything left it is to go equally to the testator's children, Oliver S. McNeil, Mary R. Fulton and Charles A. McNeil, says the Marysville Tribune.

The will was drawn up by Mr. McNeil on August 23, 1912, which is the same day that he committeed suicide by hanging himself in his business office at Richwood. The witnesses to the will were Emma M. Parks and J. W. Crawford.

As yet no executor of the will has been appointed, although it was Mr. McNeil's wish, expressed in the will, that his widow should serve in that capacity, without bond.

TOLEDO.

Toledo, Sept. 19.—Wheat—Cash and September 1.06⅝; December, 1.09⅜; May, 1.13⅛.

Corn—Cash and September, 77; December, 55⅞, May, 54½.

Oats—Cash and September, 36¾; December, 35¼; May, 36⅞.

Cloverseed—Cash and October, 11.60; December, 10.95; March, 11.00.

Alsike—12.10.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 19—The entire grain list was lower this morning, wheat losing ⅝@⅞c; corn ¼ to ⅜c and oats about ⅛c. There was a lack of speculation in wheat, corn and oats and those who bought yesterday were inclined to do some selling this morning. The bulls in corn were disappointed at the absence of frost. Advices from Liverpool showed the wheat and corn markets higher there because of smaller Argentine shipments and the fact that the wheat in France is of rather poor quality

Provisions were higher with hogs.

Opening: Wheat—May, 95⅞ to 96; September, 91¾; December, 91½ to ¼.

Corn—May, ranged 52½ to ¼; September, 70½ to ¼; December, 52⅞ to ¾.

Oats—May, 34¾ to ⅞@¾; September, 32⅞; December, 32⅝@½.

Pork—October, 16.90; January, 18.20.

Lard—October, 10.85; January, 10.42@10.45.

Ribs—September, 10.50; January, 9.80@9.77.

Wheat closed ¼@⅜c. lower and resting spots were around the bottom levels, with the exception of the December, which possessed some recuperative power. Shorts in that month were covering late on the general belief that the big men of the trade have a line of that month as well as a line of May.

Corn closed with September ⅜c. better, December ⅛c. lower and May off about ⅝c. This market was unsettled, as it is a weather affair at the moment and will continue such until the crop is out of the way of frost.

Oats showed considerable strength especially in the sample crowd, where everything was well taken. The September future was up 1½c, December was ⅛c. lower and May was a small fraction better.

Provisions closed irregularly higher.

Cash sales were: Wheat, 10,000 bushels; corn, 190,000 bushels; oats, 220,000 bushels.

Close: Wheat—May, 95⅞; September, 91½; December, 91¼@⅜.

Corn—May, 52¼@⅜; September, 71½; December, 63¼.

Oats—May, 34¾; September, 33¼; December, 32¾@½.

Pork—September, 16.80; October 16.80; January, 18.22.

Lard—October, 10.92; September 10.90; January, 10.47.

Ribs—September, 10.67@10.70; October, 10.60; January, 9.80@9.82.

BROWN GINGHAM DRESS FIGURES IN ROMANCE

Of Hazel Smith, Formerly of Cardington,

AND HARLEY SMITH, OF NEAR THIS CITY

Cardington Paper Tells About the Gown, but Doesn't Make Plain Its Connection With the Romance. In Any Event, the Bride is Charming Says Account.

The Morrow County Independent of the present week, in its report of the Smith wedding, heretofore reported in the Star, gives some additional details which are interesting. It says:

On the northbound train Wednesday evening, September 11, were Miss Hazel Smith, formerly of Cardington, but lately of Springfield, and Mr. Harley Smith, of near Marion They quietly hiked out to the St. Paul Lutheran parsonage, where they were united in marriage by the pastor, Rev. M. F. Lauffer, after which they went to the home of the young lady's grandmother, Mrs. Kate VanHorn, and a short time afterward were driven to the home of the groom's parents near Marion.

There is considerable romance in this marriage. Mrs. Smith is nineteen years old and raised here, while Mr. Smith is a "sub" on the Marion rural free delivery mail route, also owning an interest in the Cardington monument works. Mrs. Smith did not array herself in brown gingham because she could not afford anything better. She looked very pretty in it and neat enough as to style and fit to suit any bride. Mr. Smith fell in love with her in regular Romeo fashion. Perhaps she wore brown then, at any rate she set a precedent that other brides may follow and break forever the hide bound custom of spending a lot of money foolishly that would go far toward furnishing a home.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith unite in wishing them a life of contentment and happiness and admire the grit shown by the beautiful bride in wearing a brown gingham dress.

LEWIS BERINGER DIES THURSDAY

Is a Life-Long Resident of Richland Township.

Lewis Beringer, one of the best-known farmers of Richland township, died of pneumonia at his home, Thursday morning at 7:30. Had he lived until October 4, he would have been seventy-three years old He was a native of Richland township and had always lived there.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Beringer, natives of Germany, and pioneer residents of Marion county. He was united in marriage to Miss Christina Kraner more than fifty years ago. Mrs. Kraner, who survives him, came to this country from Baden, Germany, with her father, William Kraner. The following children survive:

John Lewis, of Pleasant township; Mrs. Frank O. Jackson, of Marion; Mrs. Jacob Deitsch, of Marion township; Mrs. Charles Retterer, of Richland township; Mrs. William Mantz, of Marion, and Benton Beringer, of Richland township.

Mr. Beringer had been ill only two weeks, and his death will be learned with deep regret by those who knew him. He was conscious almost to the last.

The Kenney Funeral.

The funeral services of James Kenney were held at the undertaking establishment of M. H. Gunder & Company, of Blaine avenue, Thursday at 9 o'clock, Rev. I. P Currin officiating. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery

GENERAL BROWN COMING TO MARION NEXT WEEK

Will Join the G. A. R. Veterans at the Fair

AND ADDRESS THEM AS THEIR COMRADE

The Occasion Is Grand Army Day, on Wednesday, at the Fair, When Veterans Are Admitted Free—A Republican Political Meeting To Be Held in the Evening.

General R. B. Brown the Republican nominee for governor of Ohio, will be a Marion visitor next Wednesday, September 25 General Brown has accepted an invitation to be the guest of Cooper Post, G. A. R., and the Marion County Agricultural society on Wednesday afternoon, which is Grand Army day at the county fair. Veterans of the civil war will be guests of the fair management that day, they will be invited from all neighboring sections, and General Brown will address them in the afternoon. His speech will be free from politics, the talk of a brave veteran to his army comrades. General Brown is particularly happy in this line, for he not only saw the service, but has recently served as both state and national commander of the Grand Army.

Taking advantage of General Brown's Marion visit, Chairman Harrington, of the Republican executive committee is arranging for a Republican meeting in the evening of that day, when the Republican candidate will discuss the issues of the campaign. He will be accompanied to Marion by Tom L. Lewis, Republican nominee for secretary of state, who will also speak at the evening meeting. Mr. Lewis is a distinguished labor leader, for a long time the leader of the United Mine Workers, and will speak more especially to workingmen.

In the afternoon the war veterans and citizens generally will have an opportunity to see and hear the distinguished Ohioan, when political issues are forgotten. In the evening our people may hear the head of the Republican state ticket and the distinguished candidate for secretary of state, in a discussion of state and national political issues

REV. J. P. CURRIN IS CALLED TO KENTON

Wanted by First Baptist People in that City.

Rev. J. P. Currin, formerly pastor of the State Street Baptist church, has received a unanimous call to the First Baptist church, of Kenton. He is considering the acceptance of the pastorate.

When the name of Rev. Mr Currin was presented before the church the congregation was unanimous in favor of the call and there was not a dissenting voice. In every church in which Rev. Mr. Currin's name has been brought before the members he has never failed to receive a call.

To clean oil paintings, wipe off the dust with a soft cloth, then dip a silk sponge in lukewarm water, rub on a little fine white soap which has no free alkali in it, and go over the painting quickly and gently Rinse thoroughly and dry with the cloth.

There is one thing in the small boy's favor—he never pretends to like anybody he doesn't like.

THOMAS B. SMITH SEEKING A DIVORCE

Domestic Troubles Are Carried to Court.

PLAINTIFF SAYS HIS WIFE DESPISES HIM

Cost of a Pleasure Trip Leads to Final Separation—Defendant Is Unable To Pay Note When It Falls Due—Notes from the Court of Common Pleas.

Because his wife said she despised him and would not live with him, "because of the influence of another," Thomas B. Smith, a rural mail carrier out of Prospect, brought suit for a divorce from Harriet B. Smith, Wednesday afternoon, through Attorney Louis E. Myers.

Smith further alleges that his wife refused to perform any of her household duties unless he paid her five dollars a week, although he furnished her such sums of money as he could afford. These sums, he says, were sufficient, considering their station in life, yet, he avers, she would borrow from others and constantly kept him in debt. September 5, 1911, he says she abandoned him in debt, her conduct at that time being "such as to create a scandal and talk among the acquaintances of both." Her departure, the husband declares, was due to the fact that he was unable to pay off a note, "secured by a friend," so that she could take "a pleasure trip." He says that she first went to Delaware, where they were married August 8, 1885, thence to Hampdon Highlands and Carmel, Maine. He asks for a divorce and the custody of their daughter, aged twelve years

Flora Cook has been granted a decree of divorce from Clarence Cook, a farm hand, by Judge W. E Scofield. She was given custody of her daughter, aged thirteen years and alimony, the latter being agreed on out of court.

The plaintiff and the defendant were married at Cardington, July 30, 1898. She testified that she was compelled to leave the defendant, August 5, 1902, because of his failure to provide for her and their child.

In the civil action of John W. Gardner and others against the Layton Oil & Gas company, leave has been given R. E. Jones, W. M. Deeds and John B Lupton to file amended answers by September 28.

The appraisement has been approved and confirmed in the partition suit of Emma Lenora Weiwick against John W. Robinson and others. There being no election to take, Judge W. E. Scofield ordered the premises sold at public auction.

Judge William E. Scofield has appointed Hoke W. Donithen guardian ad litem for the minor defendants in the suit of French Crow against Elizabeth C Boor and others. The guardian was granted the right to answer instanter.

Wednesday, Judge Scofield dismissed the peace complaint obtained by Edward E. Powers against Fred Issleib for want of prosecution. The costs were taxed against the complainant.

The plaintiff has been given leave to reply by October 4 in the mandamus action, entitled the State of Ohio, on relation of Clayton D. McClung against Jay Spaulding, county auditor.

The defendant has been given leave to answer by October 19 in the civil action of the Title Guaranty & Safety company against the Hummer Construction company, the cause being continued by Judge Scofield.

In the suit of Effie Leach against the Village of Green Camp, the plaintiff, through Carhart & Warner, Wednesday, filed a motion to amend her petition by alleging, to comply with the law, "that she is the owner of certain real property abutting and abounding on the line of the proposed improvement." The plaintiff seeks to enjoin the construction of certain sidewalks at Green Camp Judge Scofield gave her leave to file an amended petition by September 23.

MRS. HOMER BERRY MASQUERADES AS MAN

Taken into Custody by Two Erie Detectives.

WOMAN IS GIVEN A CHANCE TO QUIT CITY

Three Young Men Arrested With Her Are Fined One Dollar and Costs Each—They Pay Their Fines and Are Released—Notes Gathered in Local Police Court Circles.

Dressed in a suit of blue bib overalls, with a black shirt and a boy's cap, Mrs. Homer Berry was arrested in the Erie yards about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in company with George Devolt, Charles Stout and Roy Tonguett, three young men who came here from Richwood and have been employed in the Erie yards. The arrest was made by Detective Harry Luft and another detective of the road and the quartet was taken to the city prison.

When Detective Luft started towards the vicinity where the quartet was holding out, two of the fellows went through the yards. Another agent of the road was telephoned to be on the lookout for them and they were caught a short time later The girl, when questioned as to her identity and why she was appearing in men's clothing, stated that she had just arrived from Texas and was enroute to Dayton.

At the police station the girl was recognized and the story of the escapade was told by the parties under arrest. The young men stated that they met the Berry woman in the city, and she informed them that she would like to travel to Dayton and would be on her way it she had overalls and a shirt such as they were wearing. This was provided by one of the fellows, and she went to a cornfield near the Erie yards and made the change, wrapping up her dress. The young fellows stated that they met her in the yards by accident, they being enroute to the lower yards in search of work, having quit the company several days ago.

The detective filed affidavits against the three young fellows. Wednesday night, charging them with loitering and trespassing. On pleading guilty they were fined one dollar and costs and were released after settling. The woman was held for a time, and as she has gained some reputation in the city, it was decided to give her the opportunity to leave the city. She was furnished transportation to Marseilles where she says she has an uncle. Mrs Berry is the woman who came near causing her husband to serve a year in the penitentiary for failing to support her child. After thoroughly investigating the case Judge W. E. Scofield suspended the sentence.

Abe Carnick, who has been held on a charge of having received stolen property, the case being in connection with the finding of some of the tires stolen from the garage of Hoyles & Moyer, was dismissed by the mayor Thursday morning.

William Jessop, who resides on south Vine street, reported to the police, Wednesday, that his coat had been stolen from the house by some thief. Jessop related his story to the officers and in conclusion said that he might have left it some place during the day. Thursday, the coat was found between the screen door and the other door leading to the mayor's office The coat was badly wrinkled. An Elk pin and several buttons were on the lapel and the pockets contained a building and loan book and some trinkets

SPENCER GOES TO THE CHAIR

Massachusetts Murderer Pays Penalty for Crime.

PROFESSES FAITH IN GOD BEFORE HE DIES

Condemned Man Enters Death Chamber Unassisted.

Prototype of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" Said He Was Always Moved by Irresistible Impulse To Steal. Story of the Crime for Which He Is Convicted and sent to the Electric Chair.

Boston, Sept. 17.—Bertram G. Spencer, the Springfield youth, was electrocuted at the state prison in Charlestown this morning at 12 15.02, for the murder of Martha Blackstone, a Springfield school teacher.

As Spencer entered the death chamber and was about ready to take his place in the chair, he was asked by Warden Bridges if he had any statement to make. He stood with head erect, hands clasped before him, and with perfect self possession, said in a loud, clear tone of voice,

"I wish to say to the world and to the press that this is not a display of nerve. The love of God has sustained me. Goodnight."

With the word "goodnight" on his lips, he faced about, took his place in the electric chair, was fastened with the straps and the death-dealing current was flashed through the body.

The Last Request.

His last request, just before he was called to begin the death march, was that his body be cremated and the ashes be interred by his mother. The body is now at the Forest Hill crematory. Services are to be held this afternoon.

The ashes are to be kept at the crematory until his mother or some other member of his family comes from Lebanon, Connecticut, to claim them.

Spencer entered the death chamber at 12 16.30. He walked with head erect and unassisted. He was perfectly self possessed. On one side of him was Gy C. Perkins, the Christian Science reader from Springfield, who has spent the last few days with the condemned man, in an effort to bring his mind to a peaceful state. On the other side was the Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, the prison chaplain. But Spencer did not need their assistance.

The electrician caught the warden's signal, and 1,900 volts coursed through the body of Spencer. Physicians made two examinations. They then reported: Gentlemen, Spencer is dead." This report was made at 12 22 30, just seven minutes after he had entered the room.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Bertram G. Spencer, was a prototype of the famous fiction character, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Ever since his boyhood, Spencer was a thief. His stealings at first were petty. As he emerged from boyhood to manhood, his stealings grew larger, his acts grew bolder. He robbed people on the streets, he entered and robbed homes. And at last he murdered.

Yet, during all those years, he was looked upon as a model. In his boyhood he was admired for his manly traits. When he grew to manhood, those who knew him pointed him out as a man without faults, without failings. He never used profanity, never associated with evil companions.

Spencer clerked in a store and his work merited frequent commendation. His manner was always gentlemanly and courteous. He married a pretty girl in his home town, and no man could have been a more devoted father or husband.

Explanation of Dual Life.

"I robbed, I stole, simply because I couldn't help it. Robbery always had an irresistable fascination for me, ever since I was a boy. My brain is wrong. My father hit me. There's a dent in my head, and I've never been right since. But I never meant to murder."

This is Spencer's explanation of his dual life.

At seven o'clock, on the night of March 31, 1910, Spencer was in the kitchen of his home wiping dishes, while his wife washed them. They were laughing and joking with each other. He told her that some day he hoped to have enough money to get a servant for her.

"What I'd rather have is a box of candy just now," she told him.

"You shall have it," said Spencer, putting on his coat and hat and going out.

In less than an hour and a half he was back, with the stain of murder on his soul, and a box of candy under his arm.

That "irresistible impulse" seized Spencer. As he got to the street the desire to rob, to plunder, came over him. And so he sought out the home of Mrs. Sarah K. Dow. He slipped a black mask over his eyes and flourishing a revolver, commanded the women, Mrs. Dow and her daughter Lucy and Miss Martha B. Blackstone, a teacher living there, to turn over their valuables.

The Murder.

The women refused, screamed. Spencer flew into a rage. He levelled the pistol at Miss Blackstone and pulled the trigger. She fell dead. He fired at Mrs. Dow, but the bullet wound was only a slight one. And then he clambered out of the window through which he had entered, ran to a nearby store and bought candy for his wife.

Suspicion was finally directed toward Spencer. He was arrested on a criminal charge. Mrs. Dow and her daughter were brought to court. A mask was slipped over Spencer's face, a pistol was put in his hand, and he was confronted by the woman.

"He is the murderer," they shrieked.

Then Spencer confessed. Insanity was his defense in the murder trial, which was enlivened again and again by violent outbursts by Spencer, who shrieked profanity at the judge and state attorneys, and who several times, had to be carried out of the courtroom and placed in solitary confinement.

The insanity defense was battered down after many alienists had testified, and Spencer was found guilty of murder, November 12, 1911.

WILLIAM CAMP WINS YOUNGSTOWN BRIDE

Is Married to Mrs. Lillian J. Holmes Saturday.

William Camp, of this city, was united in marriage to Mrs. Lillian J. Holmes, of Youngstown, in that city Saturday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. G. Batman at the home of Mrs. Chester C. Mook and was witnessed by only a few friends and relatives. Plans for the marriage had been kept secret, and even the officiating minister was not aware of the identity of the couple until the hour of the ceremony, having been informed merely that the bride was a member of the First Christian church.

Mr. Camp, who is employed by the Pennsylvania railroad company, will return to this city in a short time and Mrs. Camp will join him in a few weeks.

JOINED IN MARRIAGE AT EPWORTH PARSONAGE

Miss Bernice H. Lust and Mr. Harry A. Gardner.

Miss Bernice H. Lust, of Morral, and Mr. Harry A. Gardner, of Ashley, were united in marriage by Dr. C. R. Havighurst at the Epworth M. E. parsonage, Tuesday, at 10.30 o'clock. They were unaccompanied.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will reside on a farm near Ashley.

Petition Granted.

Tuesday afternoon, the county commissioners granted the petiton for the Prettyman ditch in Montgomery township. The final hearing will be held in the commissioners' office, November 14, at 1 p. m.

LEWIS IS NAMED TO FILL VACANCY

By Republican State Central Committee.

NEW NOMINEE FOR STATE SECRETARY

Is Former President of United Mine Workers.

Presidential Electors in Five Districts To Be Nominated—Successor to William Kirtley, Jr., Candidate for State Board of Public Works, Is Charles H. Geidel, of Coshocton.

Columbus, Sept. 14.—The Republican state central committeemen met here today to fill the vacancy on the state ticket caused by the resignation of J. L. Sullivan, nominee for secretary of state, who went over to the Progressive party recently.

As the committee assembled just before 1 o'clock it was said that Thomas L. Lewis, of Belmont county former president of the United Mine Workers, would be tendered the nomination, and would accept it. The tip proved correct, as Lewis was named shortly thereafter.

Presidential electors in five districts were also to be selected. The vacancies were caused by defections to the Bull Moose ticket or failure of candidates to pledge themselves to Taft.

Charles H. Geidel, of Coshocton, was named as a candidate for the board of public works. The committee decided to fill this vacancy, despite the fact that the office was abolished as a result of the constitutional amendment election.

The decision was made, in view of the proposed attack on the constitutionality of that election, by which it is hoped to annul all of the thirty-four measures that were carried.

Plans to that effect were being formulated here today by the interests who opposed the amendments prior to the election. Their hope is to throw the election out on the grounds that its date was set by the constitutional convention, instead of the legislature as provided by law.

Charels W. Workman, of Mansfield, was selected by the committee to succeed A. L. Gaitord as member of the state central committee.

STORM SWEEPS NEW YORK TOWN

Four Known To Die and Forty Are Injured.

PROPERTY LOSS WILL REACH HALF MILLION

Tornado Spends Its Force in About One Minute.

Salina, New York, Is Struck Late Sunday Afternoon by Terrific Blast—Path Crosses Onondaga Lake and Strikes Summer Resorts. Barns, Trees and Electric Cars Are Overturned by Tempest.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Four persons are known to have been killed, two are missing, and at least forty were injured by a tornado that swept the town of Salina, adjoining this city, late yesterday.

The property loss, roughly estimated, is fixed at close to a half million dollars.

The known Dead.

R. H. Ein, of Collamer.
G. W. Dopp, of Fulton.
Charles Chapman, of Cicero.
William Madison, of Salina.

Among the Missing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mattison, of Syracuse, who were canoeing on Seneca river yesterday afternoon, have not yet been found. It is feared that they were caught in the storm.

Samuel Smith of this city was fatally hurt by a trolly car, as he was walking to the city, after the storm was over.

The tornado struck the lower end of Onondaga lake at one minute to 5 o'clock. It appeared in the form of an inky black cloud of funnel shape, and although its duration was but a minute, its force was terrific.

In its direct path were a number of summer resorts. Long Branch, one of these, was crowded with a holiday throng. It was there that the people suffered the most. The storm came out of the West, swept across Onondaga lake, struck the village of Liverpool, and then continuing in a northwesterly course, kept on until it spent itself at South Bay on Oneida lake, a distance of about fifteen miles.

Great Property Damage.

The property damage is great. Besides the many buildings that were either completely destroyed by the force of the wind or were carired, in some instances, hundreds of feet away from their locations, there has been great damage to standing crops. Whole fields of corn and late grain were swept from the ground by their roots.

Trees of first growth were either uprooted or broken off. Many acres of timberland in the path of the tornado were levelled.

The force of the storm was so great that barns were lifted from their foundations and carried bodily, in some cases, a hundred feet away.

Interurban cars, running between this city and Rochester and Oswego, were turned upside down. Dopp was a motorman on one of these cars, and was killed when his car was overturned. Trolley service between this city and Oswego and between South Bay and Syracuse was paralyzed by the storm.

Poles, carrying telephone, telegraph and electric light wires, were swept down by scores.

The places where the most damage was done were in complete darkness. The city hospitals have been taxed to their utmost to care for those who were the most severely injured.

MANUFACTURERS DROP THEIR PLAN

Will Not Attack Validity of Election To Amend Constitution.

Columbus, O., Sept. 17.—The Ohio Manufacturers' association will not be a party to the proposed suit to test the validity of the result of the special election to amend the constitution. If the suit is brought it will be by other interests and organizations.

For the Ohio Manufacturers' association three attorneys, John A. McMahon of Dayton, Daniel J. Ryan and T. P. Linn of Columbus, made a careful examination of the law questions involved and advised that no suit be brought.

They believe there is a grave doubt of the legality of the action on technical grounds, but do not think these grounds strong enough to persuade the court to set aside a fairly conducted and decisive election.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE; TWO PEOPLE DROWNED

Indianapolis Party Figures in Accident Near Elmore.

Toledo, O., Sept. 16.—Two people were drowned and one injured when a large touring car owned by Fred M. Meier of Indianapolis turned turtle in a ditch two miles east of Elmore, O. Those drowned were David A. Spanner of Cleveland and Mrs. Fred M. Meier of Indianapolis. Fred Meier, her husband, sustained a badly bruised shoulder while the colored chauffeur escaped without injury. The party were en route from New York to Indianapolis when the accident occurred.

PRESIDENT IS NOT WORRIED

Taft Predicts a Surprise on Election Day.

HE VOICES IDEAS ON COUNTRY'S PROBLEMS

Position of Opponents Only Conjectural.

Nation's Executive Gives Out Interview in Which He Says Democrats and Progressives Know Where Republicans Stand—Business Interests and Thinking Laborers Will Prefer Tried Administration.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 17.—President Taft, in an interview that is remarkable, when it is considered that interviews with the chief executive are rare, especially during a national campaign, voiced his ideas today on many phases of the country's problems.

Referring to the candidates of the other parties, and the other leaders of the Democrats and Progressives, the president said:

"They know where we stand. We can only guess where they stand."

Then the president was asked: "Mr. President, don't you expect success for the regular Republican organization in November?"

Not Exactly Worried.

"I am not an optimist," said Mr. Taft, smilingly, "but I think we will have a quiet vote of the conservative business interests, and the thinking laboring men on election day, which will surprise them. Not the vote that is proclaiming itself noisily or in straw votes in the newspapers, but the quiet vote of the conservative business interests, which prefer the continuing benefits of a tried administration to the untried, indefinite promises of those who clamor for a change.

"There are indications that Roosevelt will draw as large a vote from the Democrats as from the Republican ranks in many localities. This is the vote of those with Socialistic tendencies who would go to Wilson if it did not go to Roosevelt."

MERE LAD IS A CUNNING CROOK

Is Given "Third Degree" by Los Angeles Police.

OFFICERS GASP AT BOY'S COOL BEARING

He Tells of Youthful Gangs of Promising Criminals.

Johnny Hall, Eight Years Old, Is Arrested with Three Other Youths in a Stolen Buggy—Come West from Indianapolis, Where He Says There Is a Worse Gang Than in City of Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 16.—Eight-year-old John Hall, a recent arrival from Indianapolis, went through an hour's "third degree" at the police station here with an unconcern that made the officers gasp.

The child said he had stolen "more than enough to fill that big book over there," but steadfastly refused to give the name of the Fagin who had taught him thievery. He would not give the names of his associates.

Johnny Hall was arrested last night, in company with three other boys, who were in a stolen buggy. They were trying to sell a twenty-five-pound box of horseshoe nails, they had stolen.

"They is fifty boys in our gang," said the youthful prisoner. "They steal lots, but they is a worse gang back in Indianapolis where I come from.

"I only stole ten or eleven bicycles here," said the lad, "but I broke into two stores, one on Fremont street and the other out near Westlake."

The boy said he had nine brothers and three sisters. "Only five of us came to Los Angeles with my mother," he explained. "My father couldn't come, because he did not have enough money. We had saved our money."

BIRTHS.

Born, Thursday night, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Elliott, of Delaware avenue.

A son was born, Sunday, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cockeran, of east Church street.

A daughter was born, Sunday, to Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McCarty, of Herman street.

A son was born, Saturday evening, to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pohler, of south Seffner avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Neidig, of east Farming street, are the parents of a daughter, born Monday.

TRIES TO STEAL WIFE FROM HIM

Snead Will Make Defense on the Ground

THAT ELOPEMENT IS PLANNED BY BOYCE

Says He Discovers the Plot in a Letter.

Developments Indicate That the Law Will Be Allowed To Take Its Course in Texas Feud Case—Opposing Parties Go About Armed. Further Hostilities Deferred Owing to Illness of Mrs. Boyce.

Amarillo, Tex., Sept. 16.—That he killed Al. G. Boyce to prevent him from taking his wife from him again, will be the defense of John Snead, the rich Amarillo banker, in his trial for the murder.

Snead will claim that he and his wife had become reconciled about two months ago, and had planned to remove to Mississippi and start life anew, when he came upon evidence of a plan of his wife and Boyce to elope again. This plan, he will claim, he found in a letter from Boyce to his wife, telling that he had left Canada and come to Amarillo, and outlining a plan for her to leave her husband and flee with him a second time.

Young Boyce had been offered the management of an immense cattle ranch in Argentine republic.

The Potter county grand jury, in special session today, took up the killing. An indictment is expected during the day, and attorneys for Snead are expected tomorrow to institute habeas corpus proceedings to obtain the release of their client.

Search for Accomplice.

A feature of the inquiry was whether Snead had an accomplice in the killing. It has been established that two men, one answering the description of Snead, rented a cottage next door to the Methodist church, in front of which the tragedy occurred. The second man has disappeared. Mrs. Snead has also left her home.

Developments today indicated that the law would be allowed to take its course, and that there would be no armed conflict between members and friends of the Boyce and Snead families.

Although the Boyces and Sneads went about armed today, there was no open outbreak. The Sneads are waiting for the Boyces to make the next move, according to the "code" in feud warfare, and the Boyces are deterred because of the critical illness of Mrs. A. B. Boyce, superinduced by the shock of the killing of her son.

Mrs. Boyce Reaches Son.

Mrs. Boyce was one of the first to reach her son Saturday. As he lay in the street, his mother rushed to him and kneeling beside him, took his head in her lap and wiped the blood from his face.

"How much more of this must I stand," she exclaimed.

Later she went to her home, where she collapsed. It is feared she may not survive the shock.

Will Boyce, brother of Al., was almost in time to avenge the killing Saturday, it was learned today. With a repeating shotgun in his hand, he rushed to the scene, reaching there only a minute after officers had taken Snead away.

WRIT OF INJUNCTION IS SERVED ON DICK

Work on Church Street Is Stopped Monday Night.

JUDGE W. F. DUNCAN GRANTS INJUNCTION

The Street Is Torn Up and in Bad Condition—If Necessary the City Engineer May Stop Traffic on Thoroughfare Until Promised Litigation Is Ended.

Charles Dick, local superintendent of the Cleveland Trinidad Paving company, of Cleveland, was served with the writ of injunction against his company continuing work on the resurfacing of Church street by Sheriff John G. Stark at his home on south Main street, Monday night, at 8 o'clock.

The writ was issued by Judge William F. Duncan, of Findlay, Monday afternoon, when City Solicitor Fred W. Warner brought suit in behalf of the City of Marion against the paving company, and Mayor Claude D. Walters and other city officials. No time was set for a hearing on the writ.

Work on the resurfacing of the street was not continued Tuesday, in compliance with the order. Meanwhile, the major part of the street is torn up, and in the most unsightly condition.

The asphalt on the west end of the street has all been torn up and hauled away. Two-thirds of the street from Elm to Baker street has been torn up, and between Greenwood and Baker streets the plowed-up asphalt, in large and small chunks, remains.

Unless speedy action is taken to complete the work of resurfacing, the resident property owners are fearful of the consequences. If the street is used in its present condition, the concrete foundation will be damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars, and the property-owners will have to bear the brunt of it. Until the question of the legality of the Trinidad Paving company's contract is determined in the courts, the street may be shut off from traffic.

City Engineer Ernest Scott declares that the street will first be thoroughly examined and closed to traffic if it is determined that it will be in any way damaged. "In its present condition, damage is very likely to result," he said.

REV. ROY M. CHAPIN IS ORDAINED AT PROSPECT

A Meeting of the Marion Presbytery Monday Evening.

A LARGE AUDIENCE WITNESSES CEREMONY

The New Minister Is a Son of Rev. A. M. Chapin, of Prospect—A Graduate of Wooster College and of Lane Seminary—Has a Charge Near Lexington, Kentucky.

The Marion Presbytery met in the Presbyterian church at Prospect, Monday evening, to ordain Roy M. Chapin, a son of Rev. A. M. Chapin, pastor of that church. The ordination took place before a very large audience, the church being crowded.

Rev. G. M. Rourke, of the First Presbyterian church, presided and asked the constitutional questions, after which Rev. E. M. Wylie, of the First Presbyterian church in Delaware, preached a very impressive sermon on "The Highways to Zion." He took his text from Psalms 84:5, "Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee: in whose heart are the ways of them." One of the most important thoughts of his sermon which he endeavored to impress on the candidate and congregation was "The heart determines the level of life."

The ordination prayer was offered by Rev. J. R. Lloyd, of Richwood, and the charge to the candidate was given by the young man's father, Rev. A. M. Chapin.

The Presbytery then adjourned to meet in Chesterville, next Monday night, to install Rev. Mr. Williams, as pastor of that church.

After adjournment a reception was held in the church for Rev. and Mrs. Roy Chapin.

The newly ordained minister is a graduate of Wooster college, and the Lane seminary, of Cincinnati. He graduated from the latter school last May. Rev. Mr. Chapin has accepted a charge near Lexington, Kentucky, and will preach his first sermon at that place next Sunday.

BANDITS MAKE $300,000 HAUL

Four Robbers Hold Up Mail and Express Train.

WORK PROBABLY DONE BY PROFESSIONALS

No Shots Fired, Nor Are the Passengers Disturbed.

New York and Memphis Fast Mail and Express on Southern Railway Robbed at Stevens Gap at 1:30 This Morning—Mail Clerks Bound and Gagged—Bloodhounds Put on Bandits' Trail.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 17.—Four bandits held up and robbed the New York and Memphis fast mail and express on the Southern railway, at Stevens Gap, Alabama, at 1.30 this morning, bound the four mail clerks and got away with all the registered letters and valuable registered mail.

Postoffice authorities at Memphis say this sort of mail is very heavy, and the loss will reach $300,000.

The express clerks and passengers were not molested nor was a shot fired. When the train stopped at Stevens Gap for coal, one bandit rapped on the mail car door, saying "Open it, this is McMahon, the conductor." Instantly the door slid back, and the mail clerk looked into the barrel of a revolver. One bandit jumped into the car and ordered all hands up.

James Flint, one of the mail clerks, attempted to pick up a Winchester rifle near him, and the bandit told him quietly to "forget it, and fall in line."

Flint with his co-workers, Frank Hamlet, John Bruce and L. E. Powers, were lined up against the side of the car. One bandit tied their hands and feet and gagged their mouths so they could not call for help.

Three bandits stood guard. Before the registered mail was found, the train started. It ran about fifteen miles when one of the men pulled the train cord applying the airbrakes and bringing the train to a stop. Taking three sacks of registered mail the robbers jumped off and escaped.

BULL MOOSERS ARE LET OUT

Are Fired from the Republican Committee.

MEETING HELD IN NEW YORK CITY

Chairman Charles D. Hilles Is at Helm.

Some Resignations Are Received, but Those Who Do Not See Their Way Clear to Resigning Are Gently Lifted Up and Landed on the Outside—An Executive Session Is Held.

New York, Sept. 18.—An upheaval in the personnel of the Republican national committee was brought about today at a meeting of the organization in the Hotel Manhattan at which Chairman Charles D. Hilles presided. A few resignations were received, other members were summarily ousted while still other anti-Taft managers stood pat although they were threatened with official decapitation.

Sherman M. Granger, of Zanesville, Ohio, was elected to take the place of Walter Brown, of Toledo, who was formerly national committeeman from that state.

Warden B. Whiting, of New Jersey, refused to resign, so he was ousted, and Franklin Murphy was elected in his stead.

The resignation of I. A. Cassell, of Minnesota, was accepted.

Russ Avery, of California, an anti-Taft man, refused to resign, and faced summary removal as a result.

When the West Virginia case was reached W. S. Edwards, national committeeman from that state, who is a Roosevelt man, refused to resign. C. C. Priestly, of Oklahoma, was ousted, and J. J. Harris was elected to succeed him.

Richmond Pearson, of North Carolina, a Roosevelt adherent, gave way to E. C. Duncan.

After the North Carolina case had been disposed of, the committee went into executive session to consider the electoral situation in Pennsylvania and other states, where it is giving trouble.

The committee will meet again Friday, when twenty-four Taft electors will be named to take the places of those whose attitude is not definitely known.

SEVENTEEN DEAD IN AN ENGLISH WRECK

London Express Jumps Track and Hits Buttress of Bridge.

London Sept. 18. — Fourteen persons were killed and about 50 seriously injured in an accident on the London & Northwestern railway at Dillon Junction, near Widnes, in Lancashire.

While going down a steep grade, the engine of an express train jumped the track and hit the buttress of a bridge which spanned the road at this point. There was a terrific crash like an explosion and seven of the nine cars followed the engine. Every passenger in the first two cars was killed. The last two cars remained on the track and the passengers in these coaches were not seriously injured. The other seven cars turned over and caught fire. There was plenty of help at hand, but the flames prevented the immediate rescue of the penned in passengers, and some were roasted to death in sight of the onlookers.

BUCKEYE VILLAGES SUFFER FROM FIRES

Fifteen Thousand Dollar Loss in the Village of Newcastle.

Coshocton, O., Sept. 18.—The village of Newcastle, near here, was razed early today by a $15,000 fire, wiping out the Odd Fellows hall, Brown hotel, Fillman's hotel and Darling's general store. Volunteer firemen prevented the destruction of the village. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Fire at Flushing.

Flushing O., Sept. 18.—Six stores, the opera-house and two lodge rooms were destroyed by a fire here early today causing a loss of $20,000.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM TOLEDO JAIL

Saw Bars and Drop to the Ground; No Trace.

Toledo O., Sept. 18.—Four prisoners confined in the Lucas county jail awaiting trial on charges of forgery and burglary, made their escape early today, by sawing the bars of their cells on the second floor and dropping to the ground below. They are Fred Clark, Albert Robbins and Frank Wilson, all held for burglary, and Jacob Johnson, charged with forgery.

No trace of them has been discovered. The county commissioners have offered a reward for their apprehension.

Meets Death in Mine.

Cambridge O., Sept. 18.—Joe Hagel, aged forty-five, of Wainwright was crushed by a fall of slate in the Wainwright mine Tuesday and died before assistance reached him.

HIGHEST BEEF PRICES SINCE THE CIVIL WAR

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Several thousand dollars changed hands today at the stock yards, where steers, for the first time since the civil war, sold for $11 a hundred pounds. The previous high mark was made several weeks ago, when the price reached $10.90.

Not only was a new record set, but the quality of the steers was below standard. Some of them were branded, which makes their high price seem even higher. There were sixteen of the cattle, and they were bought by Armour & Company. A year ago the same steers would not have brought more than eight dollars.

Another feature of the stock yards today was a consignment of steers, fresh from the ranges of North Dakota. They had never tasted anything but grass. They brought $9.75.

The betting fans of the stock yards are now preparing odds that the price of first-class steers around Chritmas time will be $15 a hundred pounds.

FIRST RIDE ON TRAIN AT NINETY-FOUR

"Grandma" Wood Leaves for Her New Home.

Mrs. Philip Bloom and mother, "Grandma" Wood, who have resided on south Eighth street for a number of years, left Monday afternoon for Ft. Wayne, to make their home with Mrs. Bloom's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eligh. Mrs. Wood is ninety-four years of age, and it was her first ride on a train. The trip to the depot was also her first ride in a cab. She is enjoying fine health, and loved to sit on the porch at her home and smoke her old clay pipe.—Upper Sandusky Union-Republican.

C. G. ROECKER HAS DISPOSED OF STORE

Sells Business to Stanley Kurtz, of Lorain.

C. G. Roecker has disposed of his racket store at No 236 north Main street, to Stanley Kurtz, of Lorain. The stock of goods changed hands, Monday; and Mr. Kurtz took charge of the store Wednesday. He will conduct a big sale and will try and dispose of the stock of goods as soon as possible.

Mr. Kurtz is well acquainted with the business, having conducted a like store in Lorain. Mr. Roecker will devote all his time in the future to the building supply business in which he has been engaged for some time.

AN AEROPLANE WILL BE ATTRACTION AT THE FAIR

Thomas B. Clark Will Have Machine on Exhibition.

CLARK IS EMPLOYED BY HUBER COMPANY

Makes the Machine During His Leisure Hours—Pays an Entrance Fee of Fifteen Dollars—Clark Says He Solves Flying Principles Without Infringement on Others.

A homemade aeroplane will be one of the attractions of the Marion county fair, September 24 to 27. It was registered as an exhibit with Secretary Roscoe Oborn by Thomas B. Clark, No 419 north Main street, Tuesday afternoon. He had to pay an entrance fee of $15 to do it.

Clark is employed in the stock department of the Huber Manufacturing company. He made the aeroplane during his leisure time, and is very proud of it. He guarded his making of the machine with great secrecy, and declares he has solved the principles of flying in a heavier-than-air machine without infringement on the patents of the Wrights or any one else.

Clark's neighbors say they have never seen him flying around his neighborhood with the machine, and Clark does not say that he has made any flights, but the fact nevertheless remains, Secretary Oborn says, Clark's machine will be one of the exhibits of the Marion county fair. Oborn thinks that the people will be curious to see the Marion man's aeroplane. He believes it will attract wide attention.

Already the fairground is beginning to be a lively place, and by the end of the week it will be a bee hive of activity.

The race program is generally acknowledged to be the best ever had here, while the agricultural exhibits will be as great, and in many instances greater, than ever before.

The $2,000 stake races have attracted so many horsemen that Secretary Oborn is fearful that he will not have sufficient stable room to accommodate them all.

Good Hair Restorer.

TWENTY PRISONERS DOING OUTDOOR WORK

They Are Employed at Girls' Industrial Home.

Twenty prisoners from the Ohio penitentiary are now doing farm and lawn work at the Girls' Industrial home, south of the city, the honor squad being in charge of Guard J. A. Strosnider of Sunbury, says the Delaware Gazette. Included in the gang at the home is one prisoner who has not been outside of the prison since May, 1895, and seven men who were in the honor squad sent to the state hospital grounds at Lima and who made good there.

The man who is enjoying his first peep at the outside world in seventeen years is Lastor Dehanish, who was sent up from Cuyahoga county, for a life term for second degree murder. He is about fifty years of age and there was not a happier man in the lot which arrived at the home yesterday than Dehanish.

Dominic Boggins, one and one-half years from Mahoning for burglary; two Lucas county men, Fred Mundwiller, three years for robbery, and James Neal, three years for burglary, William Horner, life for murder in Jefferson county; Landin Willis, twenty years for assault in Lawrence county; George Smith, serving life for murder from Summit, and John Riley, serving a year and a fourth from Van Wert for abandonment, are the men whose good service at Lima entitled them to further privilege. Vinton, Mercer, Van Wert, Belmont, Harrison, Scioto and Clark counties are represented among the other men now given the designation of "honor prisoners."

INDUCING CASSIDY TO ENTER THE RACE

Friends Want Him To Run Against R. H. Finefrock.

There is talk on the part of friends of Attorney John R. Cassidy, of Bellefontaine, of inducing him to enter the field as a candidate for state senator in the thirteenth-thirty-first senatorial district.

So far there is but one candidate, Dr. R. H. Finefrock, of Prospect, Marion county, who is the Democratic nominee. The Republicans failed to make a nomination, overlooking the matter until too late. The only way that an opponent to Finefrock can be placed on the ticket now is by petition and he would have to take a place on the Progressive ticket or have a place on the big ballot by himself as an independent candidate.

Richard Cameron, of Marysville, who is a Republican, and a former state senator, has been suggested to make the race against Dr. Finefrock, going on the ticket as an independent.

Progressive leaders in Logan county say that they would be willing to place Mr. Cassidy on their ticket as a candidate for senator, if he would accept. While he is a Democrat, they say his record in the constitutional convention was progressive and that he is eligible to nomination on the Progressive ticket. He is well known throughout the district as a "dry."

The thirteenth-thirty-first senatorial district is composed of Logan, Union, Harding, Seneca, Crawford and Wyandot counties.—Bellefontoine Examiner.

May Have Old Place.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Following the acquittal in New York of Harry Nolan, who was appointed secretary of legation at Panama and who was accused of abducting a young girl, it was learned here today that Nolan can have his place in the diplomatic corps if he comes to Washington and qualifies with the state department.

ST. LOUIS SOCIETY GIRL ABANDONS MAINE VACATION TO TEACH AND NURSE IN SOUTH

MISS MARGARET LITTLE.

Miss Margaret Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Little, conspicuous in the St. Louis exclusive set, gave up a summer of gayety and social activity at Biddeford Pool, Maine's most aristocratic resort, where her parents have a cottage, in order that she might do missionary work at an obscure mission school in the Tennessee mountains.

THE THIRD ANNUAL OUTING OF WORKERS

Employes of the C., D. & M. Enjoy a Fine Day.

THE TIME IS PASSED IN VARIOUS DIVERSIONS

Two Ball Games Are Features of the Program—Men, Women and Children Participate in Contests of Various Kinds—Those Who Are Successful—A Big Dinner.

The third annual outing of the employes of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company was held at Glenmary park, Tuesday, and proved one of the most successful in every way that has ever been held. Over 800, including the members of the families of the employes and their friends enjoyed the outing. A special car from Marion at 8 o'clock stopping at various points along the road.

A fine program of events was opened at the park, at 9:30 o'clock, with a ball game between teams designated as the Boston Nationals and the Athletics, the latter team being composed principally of Marion players. The Boston Nationals were victorious in this contest by a score of six to three. The second event of the program was a tug of war between seven men teams representing the barn men and Marion, the barn men being the winners. M. D. Orahood captained the local team and C. R. Buchett captained the winners.

Some Feature.

In the potato race for ladies, Miss Bessie Leonard of Delaware, was the winner and received a pair of shoes. Fred McCracken and Minor Bell were the winners on the three legged race and each received a shirt. Harold Beiber, of Delaware, won the 100-yard race for boys under sixteen years and was presented a watch. A second game of baseball between teams captained by Charles Kruck and Daniel Jones resulted in a victory for the former team. A tug of war between teams made up of the trainmen and section men was won by the trainmmen. Miss Ruth Noble, of Delaware, won the flag race for the girls under the age of twelve years, receiving a mesh bag.

The race for fat ladies was won by Ms William Latham, of Marion, R. A. Vandagraff, of Marion, won the 100-yard free-for-all foot race, receiving a fine pipe. The 100-yard walking race for women was won by Mrs. M. A. Barrons, of Delaware, who received a fine umbrella. The girls' foot race was won by Miss Noble of Delaware. In the foot race for boys and girls, Carl Powell, of Delaware, won the boys' prize and Mary Kruck, of Delaware, received the girls' prize.

An Elaborate Dinner.

In the sack race for men, C. W. Stockwell, of Worthington, finished first and received an umbrella. Daniel Aphthorp, of Marion, received a sack of flour for having the largest family on the grounds, he having eight members of his family on hand. For the person having the largest family in weight the prize was awarded to G. N. Day, of Delaware.

An elaborate dinner was enjoyed by the picnicers at the noon hour, and after lunch in the evening, dancing was the feature. Most of the picnicers remained throughout the evening, those not dancing finding pleasure in listening to the fine program of music furnished by Parker's orchestra, of Columbus.

A Pitched Battle.

Lafayette, Colo., Spet. 18.—At least one man was seriously wounded and many others were hurt in a pitched battle between non-union coal miners employed at the Simpson mine and a body of union sympathizers who attacked the stockade in which they were living early today. More than 500 shots were fired before the authorities ended the battle.

OPINION DIFFERS AS TO MAKING CHANGES

Judges and Lawyers Meet in Capital City.

JUDGE W. H. KINDER NAMED FOR PLACE

Will be the Third Judicial Circuit Member of Committee to Recommend Changes of Procedure in Change of Circuit Courts into Courts of Appeal.

Judge W. H. Kinder, of Findlay, was named as the Third judicial circuit member of a committee appointed to recommend changes of procedure to follow the transformation of circuit courts into courts of appeal, Tuesday, when circuit judges and a committee of lawyers met in joint conference in Columbus.

Judge Phil M. Crow, also of the Third district, was elected secretary of the circuit judges' association. Judge R. M. Vorhees was chosen the association's chief justice.

Wide difference of opinion was disclosed among attorneys as to the advisability of changing the present rules governing bills of exceptions at Monday's meeting. Strong opposition was made to the rule, that equity cases are to be heard on review only on the record made up in the court of the first instance. The judges and the lawyers expressed opposite views, the lawyers not seeming to be willing to accept the judges' suggestions to expedite the work. As a result of this difference in views the committee was appointed to recommend changes that are made necessary by the adoption of judicial reform amendments at the constitutional election.

MRS. I. A. BOXWELL DIES WEDNESDAY

Green Camp, O., Sept. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Maud Boxwell, aged seventy-one years, widow of I. A. Boxwell, died of tumor and a complication of diseases at her home here, Wednesday morning at 11:45. She had been ill about one year.

The deceased was a daughter of Alexander Porter and had lived in Green Camp and vicinity her entire life. She was a devoted member of the Baptist church and a good Christian women. Her husband died only last June. She is survived by five children, Mrs. Anna Pierson, of St. Louis; Mrs. Minnie Barber, of Chicago; Z. D. Boxwell and Miss Mary Boxwell, who reside at home, and R. E. Boxwell, of Green Camp. One sister, Mrs. Sophrona Stouffer, of Marion, also survives.

ALBERT BERNDT BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

An Early Morning Blaze on East Center Street.

The barn at the rear of the home of Albert Berndt, on east Center street, was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour, Wednesday. An alarm of fire was turned in at 2:45 o'clock and the department made a hasty trip to the fire, but there was nothing left of the structure but a part of the floor. The origin of the blaze is unknown. The barn contained a small amount of hay, some old buggy wheels and a few chickens. The lost is estimated at $200.

Boulder, Colo., Sept. 18 — That ninety per cent. of the students of the University of Colorado are "dead beats," is the assertion made here by President Bernard J. Seeman, of the associated students body.

FIGHT RESULTS IN NINE DEATHS

A Battle Takes Place in a City of Lisbon,

BETWEEN SOLDIERS AND TOWNSPEOPLE

Latter Attempt To Capture Political Prisoners.

Citizens, Enraged at Insulting Remarks Made by Captives, Try To Mete Out Summary Punishment. Soldiers Resist and Battle Is Waged for Three Hours—Thirty Are Badly Injured.

Lisbon, Sept. 18.—Nine persons were killed and thirty injured at Eura, capital of the Portuguese district of Evora, in a battle between townspeople and soldiers.

The soldiers were escorting a band of political conspirators to the barracks as prisoners, when a crowd of spectators, enraged by the insulting remarks of the captives, attempted to take them away from the soldiers for summary punishment.

The soldiers resisted the attempt, and the Ninth republican infantry was summoned. A number of soldiers fired into the mob of townspeople. The fire was returned with revolvers, while others of the townspeople sought the adjoining roofs and threw stones and broken bottles.

The battle raged three hours before order was restored.

A LONG SQUABBLE AND THEN GREAT HARMONY

Troubled Waters Subside and Bull Moosers Resolve.

PROGRESSIVE COUNTY TICKET ABANDONED

Bull Moose Party Whipped by Desire and Torn by Its Opposing Factions Gives Birth to a Resolution After Midnight Wednesday—Resolution as It Is Adopted.

After squabbling until nearly midnight, Tuesday, Bull Moosers adopted the following resolution at a meeting of the provisional committee, and those invited to attend, held in the McNeal-Wolford block:

"Whereas, the old political parties nominated candidates for county offices at primaries held prior to the organization of the Progressive party, in which primaries the Progressives of all parties participated, be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the provisional committee of the Progressive party of Marion county, Ohio, that no Progressive county ticket be nominated."

Wednesday, Charles L. Allen, Bull Moose nominee for state auditor, declared the resolution was unanimously adopted.

"We fought out the question as to whether we wanted to nominate among ourselves in the meeting, then acted without a dissenting vote," Mr. Allen said. "A bunch opposed the nomination of a county ticket, and a bunch favored it. But, in the end, all was harmony and unanimity."

The meeting was called by Dr. James Wilson McMurray, chairman of the provisional committee.

"It was largely attended by Progressives from all sections of the county, and there were some who are members of the Republican central and executive committees," said Mr. Allen. He declined to give their names.

J. D. Shults, of Fite court, was named as the Marion county member of the Progressive state executive committee.

YOUNG PEOPLE LEAVE FOR WINDSOR, CANADA

Miss Jeanette Wasser and Mr. Cloyce Perry To Wed.

The many friends in Marion of Miss Jeannette Wasser and Mr. Cloyce Perry will be pleasantly surprised when they learn that the young people left, Wednesday, for Detroit, whence they went to Windsor, Canada, to be married. They returned to Marion Thursday and for the present will reside with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wasser, of south Windsor street.

The young people had informed their relatives, but had intended keeping the secret from their friends until their return home, wishing to surprise them.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wasser and graduated from the Marion High school in the class of 1912. She is a lovable young woman and is a favorite in her circle of friends. Mr. Perry is a brother of Mrs. H. C. King, of west Columbia street, and came to this city about three years ago. He is employed at the Wear-U-Well shoe store and is highly regarded by his employers and acquaintances.

Orders Third Dreadnaught.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 18.—In spite of the opposition of the minister of foreign affairs, the Argentine senate Tuesday adopted a resolution ordering the construction of a third Dreadnaught.

WILL NAIL HIDE TO BARN DOOR

President Predicts What Will Become of Moose.

ENCOURAGING WORD REACHES BEVERLY

Executive Says Teddy Will Run Bad Third.

Arbitrary Figures Indicate That the President Will Receive 290 Votes in the Electoral College, When Only 266 Are Necessary To Elect Him—Wilson Is Given 5,000,000 Votes; Roosevelt, 2,000,000.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 18.—Encouraged by telegrams from every section of the country, including his own state of Ohio, President Taft interested himself in the general political situation.

Bumper crops, an increasing demand for labor, booms in the iron and steel business, increased building operations and the great increase in the deposits in the savings banks the president believes are reassuring the recent feeling of unrest throughout the country. The president insisted that this prosperity is due in great measure to the reassuring of the business interests through his vetoing of the tariff bills passed by the Democratic congress.

Taft's Prediction.

President Taft sent word to Chairman Hilles in New York that the national situation would hourly improve and that he was exceedingly confident of re-election. The president wound up his message with this remark over the long distance telephone: "You will find before election day that Roosevelt will run a bad third and that the Republican party in this fight will nail Roosevelt's skin to the barn door."

The president and his campaigners are relying upon arbitrary figures for their calculations as to the support Mr. Roosevelt is to receive on election day in all of the states. They believe these arbitrary figures will give President Taft 290 votes in the electoral college when only 266 are necessary to re-elect him.

The Wilson campaigners insist that from all their reports their candidate is to receive 9,000,000 votes, and Taft would receive 5,000,000 and Roosevelt 2,000,000.

M'LAUGHLIN GIVEN BULL MOOSE APPROVAL

Named as Candidate for Congress at Fostoria.

The Bull Moose congressional committee met at Fostoria, Tuesday afternoon, and named Miles H. McLaughlin as candidate for congress on the Bull Moose ticket in the Thirtieth district.

Twelve delegates were present, two from each county. Those present from Marion were Dr. James Wilson McMurray and N. L. Gebhardt.

The meeting was called to order in the Hays House at 1:30 o'clock, and after some discussion the selection of a congressional candidate was made. McLaughlin was not present.

Ben Scheidler, of Tiffin, was mentioned as a candidate, and was represented in the meeting by an attorney. Scheidler not being present. His candidacy was discussed, but as he is practically unknown in the district, and the Bull Moosers had no fault to find with the regular Republican nominee as a progressive, Scheidler remains empty of the honor to which he aspired.

The total attendance at the meeting numbered eighteen.
